Arab Leaders Plan Military, Other Action

Will Send Supplies To Palestine "Army"

CAIRO, Dec. 8 (AP) — The Arab League announced tonight it was taking "immediate measures" for military and other action to prevent creation of a Jewish state in Palestine.

The representatives of Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Syria, Trans-Jordan, Iraq and Yemen held the opening session of a conference here and issued a communique afterwards which said:

"The leaders and representatives of the Arab countries met tonight to carry out immediate measures in regard to the Arab League Council decisions taken at its last meeting in Lebanon."

The league at that meeting drew up plans for military action to safeguard the borders of Palestine and agreed to supply the Palestine Arabs with weapons, money and other assistance."

Exiled Mufti Arrives

The exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, spiritual leader of Palestine's more than 1,000,000 Arabs, arrived from Lebanon. He did not attend the initial league meeting, but in a statement to newsmen before the sessions started said:

"When the sword speaks, everything else must be silent."

The sword continued to "speak" in Palestine, where there was no letup in rioting and bloodshed. The unofficial death toll passed the 100-mark in nine days of bloodshed and rioting since the United Nations announced its decision to set up separate Jewish and Arab states.

The death toll in the entire Middle East was more than 200. In Aden revised estimates of the toll in last week's rioting said 79 Jews, 43 Arabs and two police were killed.

Egypt Asked To Fight Partition

While the representatives of the Arab nations were in session, the Egyptian Senate called on its government to fight partition "by every possible means."

The Senate said the decision by the United Nations nine days ago to set up separate Jewish and Arab States in Palestine was contrary to "law, tradition and morality."

The Arab League representatives met behind locked doors in the Egyptian Foreign Office. A ban on newsmen and photographers was lifted to permit the taking of pictures and the delegates then proceeded with the secret meeting.

House Drives Toward Passage Of Emergency Foreign Aid Bill

NAMED "MISS HUSH"—Trying hard to conceal her emotions, Mrs. Ruth Subbie, Fort Worth, Texas, housewife, learns that she has won $20,000 worth of prizes by successfully naming Dancer Martha Graham as the "Miss Hush of 1947." Everything from an airplane to a home laundry and a house trailer went to the winner. The radio contest also collected about $350,000 for the March of Dimes.

Ban On Scarce Goods Shipments Rejected

WASHING(AP)TON, Dec. 8 (AP) — The House turned down by a vote of 136 to 109 tonight a proposal to ban the shipment of any relief goods abroad unless the United States had more of those goods than it needed.

Thus the House bill authorizing $590,000,000 in emergency aid to France, Italy, Austria and China cleared a major obstacle and headed toward seemingly certain passage tomorrow or Wednesday.

Former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton gave strong endorsement to the relief program tonight, declaring in a broadcast that every country in continental Europe stands to "lose the battle" against Communism unless the United States gives prompt financial help.

Reference To Russia

In a plain reference to Russia, Clayton said Europe is "writhing in the grasp of a great power bent upon subjugation and control."

Clayton called for early enactment of the four-year "Marshall plan," which he helped draft, as well as the stop-gap program now before Congress.

The amendment rejected today was submitted by Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga) and heavily backed by Republicans including Chairman Taber (R-NY), of the Appropriations Committee. Opponents said it would have made the entire foreign aid bill meaningless.

The House approved an amendment by Rep. Francis Case (R-SD) which forbids the setting up of any new agency to run the stop-gap relief program.

Action on these and other amendments came as Secretary of the Army Royall asked Congress for an additional $490,000,000 in occupation funds for Germany and Japan.

British Unable To Pay

Royall told the Senate Appropriations Committee that the money was needed because the British could not pay their half of the cost of running the Anglo-American zone of Germany and because there have been crop failures in both Germany and Japan.

Royall said the extra funds would raise this country's occupation bill for the present fiscal year to $1,100,000,000, but declared there was "no true economy in the semi-starvation of Germany and Japan."

Meanwhile the Agriculture Department allocated to the Army 110,500 long tons — about 4,126,000 bushels—of wheat to be shipped to Japan this month for feeding the civilian population.

Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill), a leading foe of the House emergency aid bill, predicted its approval by a six to one margin.

Demands That Walkouts End By Tomorrow

Order Supported By Show Of Force

PARIS, Dec. 8 (AP)—Premier Robert Schuman's government handed an ultimatum to the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor tonight, demanding that French workers return to their jobs by Wednesday, and quickly backed up its order with a strong show of force.

The Central National Strike Committee, a solidly-Communist group of federation members functioning independently, indicated, however, it would attempt to defy the government by declaring that its strike order still stood. The committee added that steps even were being taken to strengthen the strike movement.

As the government put its demand before the labor confederation (CGT), it also began using its powers under the new strike control law against strike inciters, saboteurs and persons preventing non-strikers from working. Eighteen men were arrested at Montpellier under the law and were charged with obstructing workers at an automobile plant.

Troops Oust Strikers

Another hint of what might happen if the unions refused the terms of the ultimatum was demonstrated today in the northern coal mining region where soldiers cleared strikers from railroads and mines at Douai, Bethune and Velenciennes. Reports from the region said non-strikers following the troops began entering the mines immediately.

The use of troops to clear strikers from strike-bound properties was one of the strongest displays of force employed by the government since the strike wave, which left more than 2,000,000 workers idle at one point, began a month ago.

Mayer, who outlined the government's ultimatum to the labor confederation tonight, told newsmen after the meeting:

Mayed, who outlined the government's ultimatum to the labor confederation tonight, told newsmen after the meeting:

"These propositions constitute the ultimate points of concession on the part of the government."

No Pay For Days Lost

Schuman's cabinet, which said the strikers would receive no pay for days lost during the walkout, offered to pay a cost-of-living premium of 1,500 francs ($13) monthly, retroactive to November 13, for those workers back at their jobs by the Wednesday deadline, and said it would not attempt to prosecute strikers except those guilty of sabotage, violence preventing non-strikers from working or otherwise violating the drastic new strike control law.

The government handed its terms to the CGT as that central labor body was shaken by a rank-and-file revolt and the apparent failure of its attempt to increase the paralysis in France with a 48-hour walkout of public service workers.

Less than 10 per cent of the workers answered the confederation's strike call. Union leaders themselves admitted the setback.

In Paris the subway and bus workers union called off its share of the projected gigantic walkout only a little more than two hours after it had begun. There was hardly any interruption in service.

Arabs Routed By Taxi-Borne Hagana Squads

Fiercest Fighting Since Split Voted

JERUSALEM, Dec. 8—(AP)—Taxi-borne Jewish volunteers beat off a two-hour attack by Arab machine gunners and grenadiers in Tel Aviv tonight and then took the offensive in the fiercest battle between the two racial contenders since the United Nations voted November 29 to partition Palestine.

For a time as the spearhead of Arab fighters knifed into the Hatikva sector of the all-Jewish city, wild panic gripped Tel Aviv and its residents fled from their houses in blind confusion.

Hundreds of Jews in the city responded to the cries of motorcycle couriers who raced through the streets shouting "Hatikva is in danger. Send help." One courier halted a motion picture performance with his alarm and sent hundreds of persons in the audience hurrying to the embattled quarter.

Bombs Tossed Into Houses

Volunteers and fighting squads of Hagana, the Jewish defense army, commandeered taxicabs and sped to Hatikva in time to beat off the furiously fighting Arabs, who drove a wedge into the quarter from the border zone which separates Tel Aviv from the all-Arab city of Jaffa.

Eyewitnesses said that as Hatikva residents fled in wild confusion, the Arabs began tossing bombs into houses.

The battle which began in the Tel Aviv-Jaffa "no man's land" mounted as violence throughout the Holy Land boosted the unofficial nine-day death toll over the 100 mark. The fighting began November 29, the day on which the United Nations voted for partition of the Holy Land—a move bitterly opposed by the Arabs.

As the Tel Aviv fighting grew in intensity, many wild rumors circulated in Jerusalem concerning the fate of the city which may become the Jewish capital of partitioned Palestnie. The first reports from coherent witnesses indicated, however, that the Arabs entered the city in cars and trucks and began fanning out.

Eight Reported Killed

Unofficial reports said that during the first hour of fighting after the Arabs renewed their attack on Tel Aviv, five Arabs and three Jews were killed and about two dozen persons were wounded. It also reported that after the first concerted Arab rush and the Jewish counterattack, the pandemonium and excitement which engulfed the city died.

Earlier in the day, five Jews were killed in the borderland area between the two cities.

A British soldier was killed while escorting a convoy of civilian workers from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem.

Jewish sources claimed British police in armored cars were supporting Arab raiders. Yehoshua Bloberman, officer in Hagana, was killed when the motor company in which he was travelling was attacked after police searched the convoy for arms, the informants said.

Both Jews and Arabs accelerated their manpower mobilization in apparent expectation of any showdown that might result from decisions taken at the Arab League meeting in Cairo.

Inter-American Defense Pact Ratified By Senate

Vandenberg Hails Hemisphere Treaty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Senate stamped 72 to 1 approval today on the inter-American defense treaty, designed to bring the full force of Western Hemisphere nations to the defense of any one of them that may be attacked.

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), of the Foreign Relations Committee, told his fellow senators they acted at "a significant moment to demonstrate the solidarity of this hemisphere."

He also noted that the treaty provides for no "paralyzing veto" on mutual efforts to keep the peace.

The lone dissenter to approval was Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), who forced a roll-call vote. He said that since the treaty fails to define an act of aggression, the terms are such that a two-thirds vote of the treaty-signing nations to impose an embargo on an aggressor country might lead directly to war.

(Under the treaty a two-thirds vote puts economic punishment of a country into effect, but each country retains the decision whether it will join with the others in any forceful action that may be taken.)

Major provisions of the treaty include agreements for:

1. Positive action by all contracting nations to assist in meeting an armed attack against any American nation.

2. Immediate consultation not only in the event of an armed attack but in case of any aggressive action against an American nation.

3. Political, economic and military measures against an aggressor, with the provision that "no state shall be required to use armed force without its consent."

4. Use of "procedures in force in the inter-American system" to settle disputes between American nations before referring such cases to the United Nations.

5. Formal condemnation of war and an agreement not to resort to the threat or the use of force "in any manner inconsistent with the provisions of the charter of the United Nations or of this treaty."

Plane Dumps Out Pilot, Soars Away, Finally Crashes

TYLER, Tex., Dec. 8—(INS)—A pilotless plane which soared away after its pilot was dumped in a freak landing crashed late today 65 miles southwest of Tyler, Tex., after flying unguided for more than two-and-one-half hours.

The pilot, W. B. Myers, suffered a sprained back when tossed from the plane during the rough landing at Pounds airport at Tyler.

Authorities said the plane crashed near Timpson, Tex., after its fuel exhausted.

Romanian Police Search Diplomat

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) —Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) told the Senate today that an American diplomat recently was searched at gunpoint by police in Communist-dominated Romania and that the homes and automobiles of other Americans there have been searchd.

Denouncing such "police state" methods, Knowland said in a speech: "I hope that the State Department will take vigorous action against this type of thing."

He added that the American minister in Bucharest, Rudolf E. Schoenfeld, had protested the use of firearms against the American official —whom he identified as "Mr. Ferguson, secretary of the American legation.

"No reply has been reported to date," Knowland said.

C.Vaughan Ferguson, Schnectady, N. Y., is listed by the State Department as second secretary and vice-cunsul in Bucharest.

Knowland said Ferguson's car, bearing an American flag, was stopped by police last November 4 and that Ferguson was searched at gunpoint. Later, the Senator said, Ferguson was questioned by Romanian authorities and accused of helping a Romanian citizen evade the police, a charge that the Diplomat denied.

Wallace Hasn't Decided

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Reports that Henry A. Wallace has decided to run for President on a third party ticket brought a denial today from Wallace's New York office. Aides there said Wallace, former Democratic vice president, has "reached no decision" on his 1948 plans.

Walkout Of 2,800 At Atomic Energy Plant Is Averted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (INS) — A threatened strike of 2,800 workers at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant was postponed today at the request of the government.

The CIO Chemical Workers Union had scheduled the walkout for midnight tomorrow in the huge plant operated by the Carbide, Carbon and Chemicals Corporation.

The current contract expires at that time and the union is demanding a 25-cent hourly wage increase.

Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, appealed for the delay in order to allow time for further negotiation. He telegraphed company and union officials:

"In view of the critical importance of this project to our national welfare, I sincerely hope an agreement may be reached within the contract period.

"Should this fail, however, I strongly urge that negotiations be continued without any interruption to operations to give me personally an opportunity to explore the situation and determine what further procedures may be worked out within which a solution may be found . . ."

Government officials said they understood the workers would continue on the job under an indefinite extension of the present contract.

Ching said he was informed that "considerable progress has been made" in bargaining talks under way at Oak Ridge.

Molotov Lists Part Of Agreement Price

LONDON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—listing part of the price of securing Russian agreement to unification of Germany—called tonight for four-power control of the industrially-important Ruhr and repeal of the economic merger of the British and American zones.

He also renewed Russia's demand for $10,000,000,000 in reparations from Germany.

However, the fact that Molotov stopped saying "no" to say "maybe" left the three western delegations in the Council of Foreign Ministers wondering whether a change in Russian policy on Germany was in the offing, conference informants said.

These sources explained that United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall—attempting to force a showdown—asked if acceptance of the Soviet reparations claim was a "prerequisite" of any agreement on establishing central German agencies, removing zonal boundaries and other economic principles.

"The question of reparations is not a precondition for the solution of the question of economic unity," Molotov said. Then, to the puzzlement of the other ministers, he added: "The two questions should be considered simultaneously."

Subsequently a British informant said he did not know exactly what Molotov meant. Apparently the statement left Russia in the same bargaining position as before since, if the two issues are to be discussed simultaneously, Molotov would not necessarily need to agree on economic unity until agreement had been reached on reparations.

The Russian demand for agreement on reparations before understandings were reached on any other question wrecked the Big Four conference in Moscow last spring.

Marshall, presumably in agreement with Britain and France after a secret meeting last night, chose the discussion of reparations to try and force a showdown on whether the conference was worth continuing indefinitely.

Yugo-Hungary Treaty

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 8. (AP) —Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito forged the third link today in a projected four-power Danubian defense chain by signing a mutual aid treaty with Hungary. He commented that such action "may hinder capitalistic imperialistic states from fishing in troubled waters."

Supreme Court Orders New Trial For Negro

[By The Associated Press]

The Supreme Court Monday:

Sharply criticized exclusion of negroes from juries in Lauderdale County, Miss., and ordered a new trial for a negro convicted of murdering a white man.

Agreed to pass on an Arkansas state law against violent assembly of strikers.

Declined to consider at this time the validity of New Jersey's "utility anti-strike law."

Decided to review a lower court ruling which the government said would multiply its costs under National Service Life Insurance and perhaps leave the insurance fund insolvent.

Agreed to fix the time when the statute of limitations bars suits against alleged violators rent ceilings.

Sen. Taft Says Meat Rationing Is Likely

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (INS)—Sen. Taft (R) O., scored proposed government price control today as inadequate to curb inflation and said meat rationing may be installed by next April.

The Ohio candidate for the Republican presidential nomination advocated the British system of rationing by money value instead of the point system used in this country during the war years.

Taft said he "hated" rationing but favored it when no alternative presents itself.

Pilot Is Found After Suicide Flight Feared

WEST PLAINS, Mo., Dec. 8 (INS) —A student pilot who authorities believed had taken off in a rented plane on a suicide flight was taken into custody tonight at West Plains, Mo., and later released.

The flier, 25-year-old Grover Nichols, gave no explanation as to why he took the plane. He said he had visited his parents at Mammoth Springs, Ark., a short distance from Thayer, Mo., where the plane was found abandoned.

The suicide theory was advanced by officers who found several "suicide notes" in his automobile after he failed to return in the alloted time.

Government Acts To Halt Speculators' Tax-Dodging

"Voluntary Agreements" Are Feature Of Rep. Wolcott's Anti-Inflation Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The administration moved today to close a loophole it said has been used by tax-dodging market speculators, while elsewhere on the economic front Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) proposed "voluntary agreements" by industry to hold down prices.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson had said last week that at least 646 traders in grain, cotton and other farm commodities had been dealing in "fictitious" transactions to reduce, postpone or escape payment of income taxes.

Today Anderson signed a proposed new futures market regulation intended to stop the practice he cited. This was the "holding open" on brokers' books of deals which actually could be closed, postponing delivery of profits until the tax on these profits was lessened, or even transferred into a showing of loss for tax purposes.

By "holding open" their accounts, the market traders delayed a balancing of offsetting "long" and "short" positions in the same futures contract.

A futures contract is an agreement to buy or sell, as the case may be, definite quantities of a commodity at a specified price on some future delivery month. A trader contracting to buy is said to be "long" while one contracting to sell is said to be "short."

Only one half of the profit derived from the sale of futures contracts held more than six months must be reported for taxes. Thus, by delaying a settlement of his long and short accounts, a trader can report only half the profit for taxation, Anderson said.

As for Rep. Wolcott's anti-inflation plan, which he drew up for submission to the Republican high command, the lawmaker said the industry agreements would be purely voluntary, without the price-wage-rationing control authority asked by President Truman.

Wolcott, chairman of the House Banking Committee, offered the plan as his own and said the official Republican program will be disclosed in detail "in a day or so."

The midwest lawmaker has been conferring with Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) and other party leaders on an anti-inflation program.

The "voluntary agreements" program advanced by Wolcott would require the setting aside of anti-trust laws for the industries cooperating. Wolcott said he proposes doing this. Otherwise the industries might be open to charges of illegal restraint of trade.

Wolcott also suggested continuation of presidential authority over shipments abroad to balance them "against the need for domestic stability."

He further called for an increase (from the present 25 per cent to 40) in the gold reserves required to be held by federal reserve banks against the currency they issue and an increase (from 25 per cent to 35) in the reserves they must carry to support deposits of commercial banks.

ITU Denies Charges; Case Will Open Today

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 8 (AP) — The International Typographical Union (ITU) today denied charges of "unfair labor practices" against the nation's newspaper publishers.

The case opens here tomorrow before Trial Examiner Arthur Leff, of the National Labor Relations Board.

This hearing, of Nationwide importance, is considered one of the major testing grounds of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, which for the first time makes unions liable to prosecution for unfair practices.

The case sprang out off charges by the American Newspaper Publishers Association that the AFL union is — among other things — "continuously attempting" to impose new closed shop arrangements on newspapers despite the anti-closed shop provision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Girl Desperado Jailed On Charges She Kidnaped And Robbed Engineer

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8 (AP) — A 22-year-old mother was held without bail today on charges of kidnaping and robbery after Magistrate Benjamin Schwartz listened to a bizarre account of looting unfolded by a detective and a robbery victim.

Schwartz ordered Mrs. Joyce Brown, black-haired mother of a 15-month-old son, held without bail on the kidnaping and robbery charges. She also was held in $1,000 bail for violating the Firearms Act and on Wednesday will be given a hearing on a charge of stealing a taxicab.

This is the story as related by Detective Harry McCann, and by Clement B. Hopkins, 26-year-old industrial engineer and former Navy lieutenant:

Hokins, whose wife and baby are out of town, picked up Mrs. Brown in his automobile at 4 a. m. Sunday because she appeared to be in distress.

She promptly whipped a pistol from a shoulder holster and Hoskins said he "became scared." She forced him to drive to his home and to sign three checks totaling $850, to write a note acknowledging he was giving her the car in consideration of "debts."

Mrs. Brown made the rounds of the home, collected two table radios, a quantity of men's and women's clothing and some silverware, which she had him carry to the car while she stood in the doorway brandishing a pistol. Then she made him start the car for her.

Woman Returns Home, Enters Living Room, Emerges As Human Torch

PRESTON, Md., Dec. 8 (AP) —Mrs. Annabelle Smith Eaton, 33, came home for the first time in two months today, said hello to her husband, went into another room and emerged a few minutes later ablaze from head to foot, state police said it had been reported to them.

Mrs. Eaton was pronounced dead at the scene, and her husband, John was taken to Easton Hospital for treatment of severe burns of his face and hands.

Sgt. L. H. Thomas, and Troopers W. H. Weir and Walter H. Dobson said kerosene was found spilled on the living room floor.

Easton told police he and a carpenter were repairing a window of his kitchen when his wife walked in. She had been visiting relatives in Georgia and had stayed for thel ast few days with friends here.

Little conversation took place, he said, and his wife walked into the living room, where he kept a can of kerosene.

When she emerged flames from her burning clothing were licking the ceiling. Eaton was burned in attempting to save his wife.

Meanwhile, the kitchen caught fire.

The Preston Volunteer Fire Depart ment was called and extinguished the fire before it could spread throughout the house.

The deputy medical examiner for Talbot County started an investigation.

Italian Leftists Again Parade Their Strength

ROME, Dec. 8 (AP)—Italian leftists paraded their strength in Rome's streets for the second successive day today in a demonstration of solidarity in their pressure upon Premier Alcide De Gasperi's government.

Union leaders tonight, however, deferred until Wednesday a decision on a general strike in Rome province and there appeared some possibility that the strike might not be called.

Unconfirmed reports were that the Communists and their Socialist allies were at odds over the walkout, the former urging it, the latter calling it inopportune.

Schuman's cabinet, which said the strikers would receive no pay for days lost during the walkout, offered to pay a cost-of-living premium of 1,500 francs ($13) monthly, retroactive to November 13, for those workers back at their jobs by the Wednesday deadline, and said it would not attempt to prosecute strikers except those guilty of sabotage, violence preventing non-strikers from working or otherwise violating the drastic new strike control law.

The government handed its terms to the CGT as that central labor body was shaken by a rank-and-file revolt and the apparent failure of its attempt to increase the paralysis in France with a 48-hour walkout of public service workers.

Less than 10 per cent of the workers answered the confederation's strike call. Union leaders themselves admitted the setback.

In Paris the subway and bus workers union called off its share of the projected gigantic walkout only a little more than two hours after it had begun. There was hardly any interruption in service.

Arabs Routed By Taxi-Borne Hagana Squads

Fiercest Fighting Since Split Voted

JERUSALEM, Dec. 8—(AP)—Taxi-borne Jewish volunteers beat off a two-hour attack by Arab machine gunners and grenadiers in Tel Aviv tonight and then took the offensive in the fiercest battle between the two racial contenders since the United Nations voted November 29 to partition Palestine.

For a time as the spearhead of Arab fighters knifed into the Hatikva sector of the all-Jewish city, wild panic gripped Tel Aviv and its residents fled from their houses in blind confusion.

Hundreds of Jews in the city responded to the cries of motorcycle couriers who raced through the streets shouting "Hatikva is in danger. Send help." One courier halted a motion picture performance with his alarm and sent hundreds of persons in the audience hurrying to the embattled quarter.

Bombs Tossed Into Houses

Volunteers and fighting squads of Hagana, the Jewish defense army, commandeered taxicabs and sped to Hatikva in time to beat off the furiously fighting Arabs, who drove a wedge into the quarter from the border zone which separates Tel Aviv from the all-Arab city of Jaffa.

Eyewitnesses said that as Hatikva residents fled in wild confusion, the Arabs began tossing bombs into houses.

The battle which began in the Tel Aviv-Jaffa "no man's land" mounted as violence throughout the Holy Land boosted the unofficial nine-day death toll over the 100 mark. The fighting began November 29, the day on which the United Nations voted for partition of the Holy Land—a move bitterly opposed by the Arabs.

As the Tel Aviv fighting grew in intensity, many wild rumors circulated in Jerusalem concerning the fate of the city which may become the Jewish capital of partitioned Palestnie. The first reports from coherent witnesses indicated, however, that the Arabs entered the city in cars and trucks and began fanning out.

Eight Reported Killed

Unofficial reports said that during the first hour of fighting after the Arabs renewed their attack on Tel Aviv, five Arabs and three Jews were killed and about two dozen persons were wounded. It also reported that after the first concerted Arab rush and the Jewish counterattack, the pandemonium and excitement which engulfed the city died.

Earlier in the day, five Jews were killed in the borderland area between the two cities.

A British soldier was killed while escorting a convoy of civilian workers from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem.

Jewish sources claimed British police in armored cars were supporting Arab raiders. Yehoshua Bloberman, officer in Hagana, was killed when the motor company in which he was travelling was attacked after police searched the convoy for arms, the informants said.

Both Jews and Arabs accelerated their manpower mobilization in apparent expectation of any showdown that might result from decisions taken at the Arab League meeting in Cairo.

Inter-American Defense Pact Ratified By Senate

Vandenberg Hails Hemisphere Treaty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Senate stamped 72 to 1 approval today on the inter-American defense treaty, designed to bring the full force of Western Hemisphere nations to the defense of any one of them that may be attacked.

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), of the Foreign Relations Committee, told his fellow senators they acted at "a significant moment to demonstrate the solidarity of this hemisphere."

He also noted that the treaty provides for no "paralyzing veto" on mutual efforts to keep the peace.

The lone dissenter to approval was Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), who forced a roll-call vote. He said that since the treaty fails to define an act of aggression, the terms are such that a two-thirds vote of the treaty-signing nations to impose an embargo on an aggressor country might lead directly to war.

(Under the treaty a two-thirds vote puts economic punishment of a country into effect, but each country retains the decision whether it will join with the others in any forceful action that may be taken.)

Major provisions of the treaty include agreements for:

1. Positive action by all contracting nations to assist in meeting an armed attack against any American nation.

2. Immediate consultation not only in the event of an armed attack but in case of any aggressive action against an American nation.

3. Political, economic and military measures against an aggressor, with the provision that "no state shall be required to use armed force without its consent."

4. Use of "procedures in force in the inter-American system" to settle disputes between American nations before referring such cases to the United Nations.

5. Formal condemnation of war and an agreement not to resort to the threat or the use of force "in any manner inconsistent with the provisions of the charter of the United Nations or of this treaty."

Plane Dumps Out Pilot, Soars Away, Finally Crashes

TYLER, Tex., Dec. 8—(INS)—A pilotless plane which soared away after its pilot was dumped in a freak landing crashed late today 65 miles southwest of Tyler, Tex., after flying unguided for more than two-and-one-half hours.

The pilot, W. B. Myers, suffered a sprained back when tossed from the plane during the rough landing at Pounds airport at Tyler.

Authorities said the plane crashed near Timpson, Tex., after its fuel exhausted.

Romanian Police Search Diplomat

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) —Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) told the Senate today that an American diplomat recently was searched at gunpoint by police in Communist-dominated Romania and that the homes and automobiles of other Americans there have been searchd.

Denouncing such "police state" methods, Knowland said in a speech: "I hope that the State Department will take vigorous action against this type of thing."

He added that the American minister in Bucharest, Rudolf E. Schoenfeld, had protested the use of firearms against the American official —whom he identified as "Mr. Ferguson, secretary of the American legation.

"No reply has been reported to date," Knowland said.

C.Vaughan Ferguson, Schnectady, N. Y., is listed by the State Department as second secretary and vice-cunsul in Bucharest.

Knowland said Ferguson's car, bearing an American flag, was stopped by police last November 4 and that Ferguson was searched at gunpoint. Later, the Senator said, Ferguson was questioned by Romanian authorities and accused of helping a Romanian citizen evade the police, a charge that the Diplomat denied.

Wallace Hasn't Decided

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Reports that Henry A. Wallace has decided to run for President on a third party ticket brought a denial today from Wallace's New York office. Aides there said Wallace, former Democratic vice president, has "reached no decision" on his 1948 plans.

Russia's "Maybe" Instead Of "No" Stirs Speculation

Molotov Lists Part Of Agreement Price

LONDON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—listing part of the price of securing Russian agreement to unification of Germany—called tonight for four-power control of the industrially-important Ruhr and repeal of the economic merger of the British and American zones.

He also renewed Russia's demand for $10,000,000,000 in reparations from Germany.

However, the fact that Molotov stopped saying "no" to say "maybe" left the three western delegations in the Council of Foreign Ministers wondering whether a change in Russian policy on Germany was in the offing, conference informants said.

These sources explained that United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall—attempting to force a showdown—asked if acceptance of the Soviet reparations claim was a "prerequisite" of any agreement on establishing central German agencies, removing zonal boundaries and other economic principles.

"The question of reparations is not a precondition for the solution of the question of economic unity," Molotov said. Then, to the puzzlement of the other ministers, he added: "The two questions should be considered simultaneously."

Subsequently a British informant said he did not know exactly what Molotov meant. Apparently the statement left Russia in the same bargaining position as before since, if the two issues are to be discussed simultaneously, Molotov would not necessarily need to agree on economic unity until agreement had been reached on reparations.

The Russian demand for agreement on reparations before understandings were reached on any other question wrecked the Big Four conference in Moscow last spring.

Marshall, presumably in agreement with Britain and France after a secret meeting last night, chose the discussion of reparations to try and force a showdown on whether the conference was worth continuing indefinitely.

Walkout Of 2,800 At Atomic Energy Plant Is Averted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (INS) — A threatened strike of 2,800 workers at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant was postponed today at the request of the government.

The CIO Chemical Workers Union had scheduled the walkout for midnight tomorrow in the huge plant operated by the Carbide, Carbon and Chemicals Corporation.

The current contract expires at that time and the union is demanding a 25-cent hourly wage increase.

Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, appealed for the delay in order to allow time for further negotiation. He telegraphed company and union officials:

"In view of the critical importance of this project to our national welfare, I sincerely hope an agreement may be reached within the contract period.

"Should this fail, however, I strongly urge that negotiations be continued without any interruption to operations to give me personally an opportunity to explore the situation and determine what further procedures may be worked out within which a solution may be found . . ."

Government officials said they understood the workers would continue on the job under an indefinite extension of the present contract.

Ching said he was informed that "considerable progress has been made" in bargaining talks under way at Oak Ridge.

Yugo-Hungary Treaty

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 8. (AP) —Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito forged the third link today in a projected four-power Danubian defense chain by signing a mutual aid treaty with Hungary. He commented that such action "may hinder capitalistic imperialistic states from fishing in troubled waters."

Government Acts To Halt Speculators' Tax-Dodging

"Voluntary Agreements" Are Feature Of Rep. Wolcott's Anti-Inflation Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP)—The administration moved today to close a loophole it said has been used by tax-dodging market speculators, while elsewhere on the economic front Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) proposed "voluntary agreements" by industry to hold down prices.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson had said last week that at least 646 traders in grain, cotton and other farm commodities had been dealing in "fictitious" transactions to reduce, postpone or escape payment of income taxes.

Today Anderson signed a proposed new futures market regulation intended to stop the practice he cited. This was the "holding open" on brokers' books of deals which actually could be closed, postponing delivery of profits until the tax on these profits was lessened, or even transferred into a showing of loss for tax purposes.

By "holding open" their accounts, the market traders delayed a balancing of offsetting "long" and "short" positions in the same futures contract.

A futures contract is an agreement to buy or sell, as the case may be, definite quantities of a commodity at a specified price on some future delivery month. A trader contracting to buy is said to be "long" while one contracting to sell is said to be "short."

Only one half of the profit derived from the sale of futures contracts held more than six months must be reported for taxes. Thus, by delaying a settlement of his long and short accounts, a trader can report only half the profit for taxation, Anderson said.

As for Rep. Wolcott's anti-inflation plan, which he drew up for submission to the Republican high command, the lawmaker said the industry agreements would be purely voluntary, without the price-wage-rationing control authority asked by President Truman.

Wolcott, chairman of the House Banking Committee, offered the plan as his own and said the official Republican program will be disclosed in detail "in a day or so."

The midwest lawmaker has been conferring with Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) and other party leaders on an anti-inflation program.

The "voluntary agreements" program advanced by Wolcott would require the setting aside of anti-trust laws for the industries cooperating. Wolcott said he proposes doing this. Otherwise the industries might be open to charges of illegal restraint of trade.

Wolcott also suggested continuation of presidential authority over shipments abroad to balance them "against the need for domestic stability."

He further called for an increase (from the present 25 per cent to 40) in the gold reserves required to be held by federal reserve banks against the currency they issue and an increase (from 25 per cent to 35) in the reserves they must carry to support deposits of commercial banks.

ITU Denies Charges; Case Will Open Today

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 8 (AP) — The International Typographical Union (ITU) today denied charges of "unfair labor practices" against the nation's newspaper publishers.

The case opens here tomorrow before Trial Examiner Arthur Leff, of the National Labor Relations Board.

This hearing, of Nationwide importance, is considered one of the major testing grounds of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, which for the first time makes unions liable to prosecution for unfair practices.

The case sprang out off charges by the American Newspaper Publishers Association that the AFL union is — among other things — "continuously attempting" to impose new closed shop arrangements on newspapers despite the anti-closed shop provision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Italian Leftists Again Parade Their Strength

ROME, Dec. 8 (AP)—Italian leftists paraded their strength in Rome's streets for the second successive day today in a demonstration of solidarity in their pressure upon Premier Alcide De Gasperi's government.

Union leaders tonight, however, deferred until Wednesday a decision on a general strike in Rome province and there appeared some possibility that the strike might not be called.

Unconfirmed reports were that the Communists and their Socialist allies were at odds over the walkout, the former urging it, the latter calling it inopportune.

Girl Desperado Jailed On Charges She Kidnaped And Robbed Engineer

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8 (AP) — A 22-year-old mother was held without bail today on charges of kidnaping and robbery after Magistrate Benjamin Schwartz listened to a bizarre account of looting unfolded by a detective and a robbery victim.

Schwartz ordered Mrs. Joyce Brown, black-haired mother of a 15-month-old son, held without bail on the kidnaping and robbery charges. She also was held in $1,000 bail for violating the Firearms Act and on Wednesday will be given a hearing on a charge of stealing a taxicab.

This is the story as related by Detective Harry McCann, and by Clement B. Hopkins, 26-year-old industrial engineer and former Navy lieutenant:

Hokins, whose wife and baby are out of town, picked up Mrs. Brown in his automobile at 4 a. m. Sunday because she appeared to be in distress.

She promptly whipped a pistol from a shoulder holster and Hoskins said he "became scared." She forced him to drive to his home and to sign three checks totaling $850, to write a note acknowledging he was giving her the car in consideration of "debts."

Mrs. Brown made the rounds of the home, collected two table radios, a quantity of men's and women's clothing and some silverware, which she had him carry to the car while she stood in the doorway brandishing a pistol. Then she made him start the car for her.

Pilot Is Found After Suicide Flight Feared

WEST PLAINS, Mo., Dec. 8 (INS) —A student pilot who authorities believed had taken off in a rented plane on a suicide flight was taken into custody tonight at West Plains, Mo., and later released.

The flier, 25-year-old Grover Nichols, gave no explanation as to why he took the plane. He said he had visited his parents at Mammoth Springs, Ark., a short distance from Thayer, Mo., where the plane was found abandoned.

The suicide theory was advanced by officers who found several "suicide notes" in his automobile after he failed to return in the alloted time.

Woman Returns Home, Enters Living Room, Emerges As Human Torch

PRESTON, Md., Dec. 8 (AP) —Mrs. Annabelle Smith Eaton, 33, came home for the first time in two months today, said hello to her husband, went into another room and emerged a few minutes later ablaze from head to foot, state police said it had been reported to them.

Mrs. Eaton was pronounced dead at the scene, and her husband, John was taken to Easton Hospital for treatment of severe burns of his face and hands.

Sgt. L. H. Thomas, and Troopers W. H. Weir and Walter H. Dobson said kerosene was found spilled on the living room floor.

Easton told police he and a carpenter were repairing a window of his kitchen when his wife walked in. She had been visiting relatives in Georgia and had stayed for thel ast few days with friends here.

Little conversation took place, he said, and his wife walked into the living room, where he kept a can of kerosene.

When she emerged flames from her burning clothing were licking the ceiling. Eaton was burned in attempting to save his wife.

Meanwhile, the kitchen caught fire.

The Preston Volunteer Fire Department was called and extinguished the fire before it could spread throughout the house.

The deputy medical examiner for Talbot County started an investigation.

Accident Victim Remains Critical

Roland Uplinger, 18, Corriganville, remained in a critical condition and was still unconscious last, night more than 24 hours after he was admitted to Timmins Hospital, Bedford, Pa., when the car in which he was riding careened from Route 220, 11 miles south of Bedford.

Hospital attaches said Uplinger, who was riding in a car driven by Leslie Bohrer, North Mechanic Street, this city sufferend a fractured skull when the car failed to negotiate a curve and turned over in a field off the road.

Pennsylvania State Police said Bohrer was treated in the hospital for minor injuries and cuts and bruises, but was not admitted. Authorities said the tires on the car were "very smooth" and skidded on the wet surface.

Pending the outcome of Uplinger's injuries, investigating officers said no charges would be preferred against Bohrer, who was questioned at the hospital following the accident.

Barter Players Will Appear Here Tonight

The advance ticket sale for "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," to be presented tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Allegany High School auditorium by the Barter Players, has exceeded the total sale for the initial presentation two months ago, members of the Junior Association of Commerce sponsoring committee said last night.

This play, one of four in the season's series, is the second appearance of the famous Barter Players here, and represents legitimate theatre drama at its best, according to reviews and reports of critics elsewhere.

Committee members called attention to the fact that the play starts at 8:30 p. m. as shown in newspaper ads and on window posters, and not at 8 p. m. as printed on reserved seat tickets.

"adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation"

FROM THE OFFICIAL REPORT of the Interstate Commerce Commission on awarding a temporary freight rate increase of 10%, we quote:

"The law requires us to give due consideration, among other factors, to the need of revenue sufficient to enable the carriers under honest, economic, and efficient management to provide adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation . . ."

A moment's thought should convince any fair-minded person that keeping the American railroads healthy is to everybody's advantage.

Every family, every businessman, even the Nation itself is in danger when this vital artery of American life is weakened.

And that threat is real, and it is now. For with increases in the cost of railroad operation piling up one atop another, how can the railroads' multi-million dollar program for desperately needed new equipment be continued? How can improvements in roadbeds, yards, stations, rolling stock, which took a merciless beating in the war years of peak traffic, be carried through?

They can't...* UNLESS—

Unless the railroads are granted freight rates adequate to meet the wage and materials cost increases, and at the same time keep hundreds of American industries busy with new machinery and equipment orders.

Government requires that the railroads maintain a high standard of efficiency because You demand it, Industry depends on it, and the Nation must have it.

We are asking a permanent freight rate increase of the absolute minimum to meet our need—which is in every sense your need.

Our request should be granted.

"adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation"

FROM THE OFFICIAL REPORT of the Interstate Commerce Commission on awarding a temporary freight rate increase of 10%, we quote:

"The law requires us to give due consideration, among other factors, to the need of revenue sufficient to enable the carriers under honest, economic, and efficient management to provide adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation . . ."

A moment's thought should convince any fair-minded person that keeping the American railroads healthy is to everybody's advantage.

Every family, every businessman, even the Nation itself is in danger when this vital artery of American life is weakened.

And that threat is real, and it is now. For with increases in the cost of railroad operation piling up one atop another, how can the railroads' multi-million dollar program for desperately needed new equipment be continued? How can improvements in roadbeds, yards, stations, rolling stock, which took a merciless beating in the war years of peak traffic, be carried through?

They can't... UNLESS—

Unless the railroads are granted freight rates adequate to meet the wage and materials cost increases, and at the same time keep hundreds of American industries busy with new machinery and equipment orders.

Government requires that the railroads maintain a high standard of efficiency because You demand it, Industry depends on it, and the Nation must have it.

We are asking a permanent freight rate increase of the absolute minimum to meet our need—which is in every sense your need.

Our request should be granted.

COST INCREASES VS. RATE INCREASES
Class I Railroads, U.S.
(Since 1940)

Increased Wages, Payroll Taxes, Materials — $3,029,000,000

Increased Revenues — $1,771,000,000

These figures do not include demands of train service organizations for changes in working rules nor for wage increases not already granted.

Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference

ROOM 214—143 LIBERTY STREET • NEW YORK 6, N. Y

Major Timothy Morgan stomped into my office. There was a piece of court plaster on his cheek.

"This is an emergency," he announced. "I slashed myself shaving. Have you a few drops of alcohol handy?"

Billy Rose

"There's a septic pencil in the medicine chest," I said, pointing right.

Like a retriever, Timothy headed left for the closet in which I stash the bourbon.

"According to Kruppmeyer of Vienna," said the old swindler, "a germicide should be administered inside as well as out."

Morgan uncorked the bottle and poured a drink that would cost eight dollars in a Manhattan cafe. "Three trivial fingers of liquid," he said, holding the glass to the light.

"You're all thumbs today, Morgan," I observed.

The Sahib of the Sideshows paid no attention. He dipped his pinkie into the tumbler. dabbed the skin under the court plaster, closed his eyes and upended the glass.

"Why do you close your eyes when you drink?" I asked.

"When I look at bourbon," Timothy explained, "it makes my mouth water—and I hate diluted whisky."

"Go home and nurse your wound," I said. "I'm trying to finish a column."

The Major examined the half-finished piece in my portable. "The Pitfalls of Marriage," he sneered. "A tried topic which can only be saved by scintillating anecdote."

"Which I suppose you have on the tip of your brain and are prepared to relate for twenty puny pesos."

"Correct," smiled the Major. "The year is 1927. I was in partnership with a young man affectionately known to the police of several states as Blue Sky Bailey. We were operating out of Ranger, Texas, selling shares in the Rook Creek Oil Company."

"With offices in your briefcase?" I cut in.

"Rook Creek Oil was a legitimate enterprise," said Morgan with asperity. "It owned and acre of ground in a creek bed north of Abilene. We had no reason to assume there was no oil under the ground. Furthermore, our stock certificates had been engraved by one of the finest tattoo artists in Amarillo.

"Unfortunately, the sheriff of Ranger was under the delusion it would be interesting to talk to us. Blue Sky Bailey and I didn't feel conversationally disposed toward the gentleman. We left him in a locked hotel room and want on to Fort Worth."

I shoved the bottle of bourbon over toward the Major. "An infection from scratch has been known to carry a man off in twenty-four hours," I said.

"Thank you, my boy," murmured Timothy. "In Fort Worth we struck up an acquaintance with a charming, though somewhat crubby female known as the Widow Ogilvy. She was a lady of parts—some of them detachable—but her late husband had left her fifty thousand dollars in U. S. Steel, Preferred."

"It must have been love at first sight," I said.

Morgan beamed like a Macy Santa Claus. "How did you guess?" he asked. "The widow and I took to strolling through a pleasant park in Fort Worth.

In a week, the ramparts were stormed and won. With an intelligence all too rare in her sex, the widow agreed to turn over her assets to me for safe-keeping immediately after the wedding. I complimented her on her perspicacity and set the date.

"Next evening by the merest chance, I saw my intended strolling though the same pleasant park with Blue Sky Bailey. When I confronted the dastard, he brazenly told me this was a free country, and that he, too, had been smitten by the Widow's charms.

"That every night, reinforced with eau de cologne and Sen-Sen, I took my lady by the hand—the one that didn't come off—and told her my eager heart couldn't wait. I proposed we tie the nuptial knot at once. The Widow acquiesced. A justice of the peace asked the necessary do-yous, and at two o'clock that morning, my bride and I borrowed Blue Sky Bailey's car and set out for Austin.

"After breakfast in our hotel suite the following day, I addressed myself to the lady who now bore the honored name of Morgan.

"'My precious petunia,' I said, 'haven't you forgotten something?"

"The new Mrs. Morgan told me she never wore them in the morning.

"I told her I wasn't referring to her enamel dentures—that as her husband, I was interested in safeguarding her widow's mite.

"'Of course, my pet,' she cooed tenderly. 'In my happiness I forgot. Just close those dreamy big blue eyes.'

"I closed them and heard my bride rumaging around for the tin box she carried in her suitcase. A moment later, something was laid in my lap.

"I opened my eyes and quickly snapped them shut again. Her $50,000 had been converted into Rook Creek Oil certificates, bearing the signature of Blue Sky Bailey."

"Did Bailey ever get his car back?" I asked Morgan.

Absent-mindly the Major peeled the court plaster from his cheek and dropped it in the waste basket.

"I should say not," he snapped. "I have consideration for a common thief."

No Strikes But Rebellion Is Sweeping Over France

When the Communist Manifesto, 99 years ago, made its famous appeal, "Workers of the World, Unite!", it was using what passed for argument. Today in France that appeal is being made with a club and a gun.

The most significant fact about the wave of strikes in France is the way the workers are being herded about by their Communist leaders. Around 2,000,000 men and women are now idle. That represents about 10 per cent of the total working population. But only a fraction of these strikers walked out voluntarily. They were ordered out by their leaders, under orders from Communist chief Maurice Thorez, acting under orders from Moscow—from which he has just returned.

Through comrade Benoit Frachon, Thorez controls the General Federation of Labor. Of the CGT's total of 38 national unions, 20 have joined in the conspiracy to overthrow the government by paralyzing the country. But most of the rank and file preferred to remain on the job, as was proved by the first secret strike votes. Thereupon, the Communist Central Strike Committee put a stop to strike ballots, on the ground that "they disrupt workers' unity!"

Why do the French strikers stand for this slavery? The answer is that many don't and that most of the others fear broken heads if they object. In northern and central France, one-third of the 3,000,000 who were out early this week have gone back to work. In other cases, like the struck coal mines, many who try to return are met at the pit heads by armed Communist thugs. Some 80 per cent of the railway strikers have returned, but train service is still crippled by rail blocks and murderous sabotage. In industrial St. Etienne and Arles strike committee "police" literally took over the cities and for a day terrorized the populace.

This is not labor trouble. It is attempted revolution. That is why the National Assembly has given Premier Schuman drastic power to curb agitators for strikes and sabotage. Schuman has the backing of anywhere from 70 to 90 per cent of the population.

The too-familiar quarrels of the mild Left, Center and Right in France have been put aside. All but the agents of a foreign power are now standing behind their government to defend the hard-won liberties of Frenchmen. Their struggle is the most momentous event in the world today.

Wave Of Panic Buying Hits Cities In Russia

Reports of a "wave of panic buying" in Moscow and other Russian cities are still unconfirmed, but they add strength to the suspicion that the Soviet Union is feeling some of the same stresses and strains which have gripped other nations during the postwar period.

Although her population is huge, Russia's manpower losses are immense. More square miles of territory were overrun by hostile armies in Russia than in any other Allied land. And, though no exact figures are available, it is probable that the land of the Bolsheviks lost a greater percentage of her industrial plant than any other Allied nation.

The Soviet dictatorship may be able to hide the effects of these losses upon the Russian economy more effectively than other governments which do not maintain an iron censorship. But a completely controlled economy is also subject to economic law and human nature is not very different in a dictatorship than in a free land.

A people which has already seen the cost of living arbitrarily hiked by government decree (to absorb excess purchasing power) might easily stage another wave of panic buying on the rumor that the government was about to order another whopping bost in prices.

None of this is a guarantee that the Soviet outfit is about to collapse or that the long-suffering people of Russia are about to revolt against their Communist masters. But if the Russian government is having serious economic troubles at home, this would help to explain the desperate Communist move to take over in France and Italy.

Woe Is Us!

News has one unfortunate qualification: Usually, the worse it is, the bigger it is. There is little reader appeal, for instance, in the headline "John Brown Feels Fine." Much more alluring is the caption "Brown Slowly Succumbing to Mysterious Ailment."

This philosophy is exemplified in the selection of the 10 biggest news stories of 1947, compiled by the United Press. The list is headed by the high cost of living. Other events, in order of their importance, were ranked as follows:

The "cold war;" passage of the Taft-Hartley Law and subsequent litigation; the Hughes-Meyers investigation; Texas City, Tex., disaster; Princess Elizabeth's romance; partition of India; series of airplane accidents; Arab-Jewish controversy over Palestine; the World Series.

Except for a romantic angle, HCL has everything. It affects everybody, it is directly concerned in everything they do, and it touches them in the pocketbook, which is a notoriously sensitive spot. And it is certainly bad news. (Come to think of it, even the cost of courtship has gone up).

The unhappy aspects of most of the other stories are the ones that draw the continuing headlines, although it is essentially good news that underlies such events as the emergence of independent Indian states and the evolution of labor-management relations implicit in the Taft-Hartley Law. (Does anyone feel particularly happy about the "cold war" headlines?)

Only in two of the 10 stories is happiness a real factor. That is in the accounts of the courtship and wedding of Princess Elizabeth, and in the coverage of the World Series. Truly, company loves misery.

There having been some confusion over the Roosevelts, and an effort made to connect Tom Dewey with the famous admiral, it should be explained Governor Warren of California is not the hero of Bucker Hill.

Harold Stassen is complaining of the President pickers. The trouble seems to be that they are not looking in his direction.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

ENCEPHALITIS, SO-CALLED SLEEPING SICKNESS

ENCEPHALITIS (inflammation of the brain) is sometimes called "sleeping sickness" because many of its victims are unusually drowsy. The malady may occur as a complication of another disorder and there are a number of types. During recent years the variety produced by certain virus organisms is being recognized more frequently and consequently is receiving considerable attention from medical authorities.

This peculiar form of encophalitis usually begins suddenly and brings on symptoms resembling the flu. The same onset may be observed in any virus infection and, therefore, is of little diagnostic help to the physician in the beginning of the illness. The temperature occasionally rises to 106 degrees F. and the sufferer is plagued with headache, especially behind the eyes, and a pepless feeling. The first indication that the brain is affected is the development of stiffness of the neck, and sometimes this is the only clew that encephalitis is present. Pain in the back may be noted if the leg is raised while in a recumbent position. Other individuals become confused, disoriented, uncooperative, and restless.

In severe cases, lethargy almost reaches the point of stupor or coma. The majority can be aroused sufficiently to answer questions but if the conversation wanes, they doze off again within a few seconds. It is at this stage that the lay term "sleeping sickness" is most apropos. The muscles of the arms and legs may become stiff and difficult to move; in others, paralysis is noted and the condition may be hard to distinguish from polio. Eye changes take place, particularly when the tiny muscles surrounding the socket are involved. Crossing is common if the patient attempts to follow objects with his eyes. Diagnosis is confirmed by removing some of the spinal fluid and having it analyzed. This test is the only way in which one type of encephalitis can be differentiated from another.

It has been established that a virus is responsible but where does it come from? The organisms capable of producing such symptoms have been found in domestic animals, especially horses. They have likewise been isolated from poultry, pigeons, and pheasants as well as a number of wild birds and animals. Personal contact with these sources may be necessary but it is known that mosquitoes and ticks can act as intermediate hosts. Insects are undoubtedly a factor when the disease sprikes in epidemic proportions but this does not explain isolated cases in widely scattered communities.

There is no preventive or treatment worthy of the name. Recovery is the rule in most instances in spite of weeks or months of illness. Bed rest is essential; should the patient become active too soon, all too often there is a recurrence. The victim feels better if the room is dark because light hurts the eyes and may aggravate headache. Noise and disturbances should be avoided, more so when restlessness and mental confusion exist. The sulfonamides and penicillin are administered but are of questionable value. Should complications arise they are treated accordingly.

REPLY

It should, but it doesn't. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on pinworms.

Mrs. C. V. writes: What causes a fallen bladder?

REPLY

The most common origin is childbirth, at which time damage occurs to the muscles supporting the organ.

KIDNEY SHAPES

REPLY

In this abnormality the kidneys, like the Siamese twins, are joined at etiher their upper or lower edges. In so doing they assume the shape of a horseshoe.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Cheese it, men, those clothes designing characters are on the rampage again. This time they're after us.

Not content with dealing us a sneaky "new look for women" punch to our pocket books, they now want to take away our pocket.

They contend that it's silly for men to go to the trouble of buying a suit that fits nicely and then lump up the line by stuffing the pockets with cigarette packs, lighters, racing form, old letters and money.

They're nice enough to concede that a man has to carry things with him and they have a ready solution . . . handbags. Men's handbags!

Just so I could speak with authority on the subject I borrowed a medium sized lady's handbag and tried taking a few steps in front of a mirror, and a few steps was all it took. A handbag throws the male gait off true just enough that . . . there's no getting around it . . . you have to walk with a list.

If these characters think I'm going to toddle into the pool room and pull my private cue ball from the depths of an alligator-grain handbag they don't know much about pool rooms, and that's not hard to believe.

Nope, even here in Hollywood where a guy can augment nature from the tips of his elevator shoes to the top of his toupee, I hold no hope for the male handbag advocate.

I'll go on pinching pennies so the little lady can pinch her waist, but keep those new look guys away from me.

Personally, I'm not interested in "looks" of any kind until they get the hemlines back up where they belong.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Congressman Bender, Ohio Republican, Unearths Shocking Facts On Army Officers' War Connections; Army Has Strange Promotion System

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—In wartime, military security hushes up a lot of Army mistakes. In peacetime, people are usually too busy thinking about other things to safeguard against future mistakes. However, a few Congressmen, such as Rep. George Bender, Ohio Republican, have persisted in pointing up Army faults in peacetime and demanding that something be done about them before Congress votes on military conscription.

Rep. Bender, with the help of Lindsay Warren's efficient General Accounting Office, has unearthed the shocking fact that several Army officers who decided how much money the Government owed war contractors, thereafter went to work for those same contractors. Some officers were hired so quickly it looked as if a deal had been made at the very same time the Army officers were deciding how much the Government should pay these firms.

For instance:

Maj. George W. Parker was the Army's contracting officer assigned to the Howard Aircraft Corp. of St. Charles, Ill. He spent from Aug. 19 to Sept. 12, 1944 adjusting final payments under this contract. And just twelve days after he was discharged from the Army, Parker became general manager of Howard Aircraft.

Also, Maj. Kerwin Hagerty was Army procurement planning and control officer at the North Western Aviation Corp. of St. Paul from Sept. 27, 1945 to March 21, 1946. After winding up this work, he left the Army and became vice president in charge of production.

Col. Forest Smith of Cincinnati held a relatively minor job with a Cincinnati law firm before the war. During the war, he was not only the original contracting officer for the Army when it signed up with the Schwitzer-Cummings Co., of Indianapolis, but also terminated several contracts between that firm and the Government. This meant he had to decide how much the Army owed the firm. Less than a month after his discharge, Smith got a $15,000 salary with Schwitzer-Cummings.

Also Capt. G. I. Calvert was the Army's representative with Sheffield Steel of Houston, Texas. One of his jobs was to check on final inventories when the Army ended its contract to make airplane struts. Quitting the Army, Calvert got a nice job with the Sheffield Steel Co. as metallurgical engineer.

The Army has strange and mysterious ways of doing things. Witness the promotions of 100 of the top brass to be permanent generals.

Those who studied the list carefully couldn't escape the impression that the selection board is now giving a lot of weight to parlor politics. For instance: It's been an Army practice that no officer shall be promoted to the permanent grade of general unless he has seen overseas service in World War II.

However, high on the latest list of promotions to major general was Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons. It so happened that Persons did not go abroad at all during the recent war. He served right here in the nation's Capital, in fact, most of the time under the Capitol Dome.

Persons' job was to lobby with Congress, get Army appropriations passed, and generally kep Congress in a happy frame of mind. He did an excellent job.

In return, he is now promoted to the permanent rank of major general despite the rule against such promotions when an officer has not served overseas. With the Army, lobbying rates high.

Another general on the list is Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, chief publicity expert for the War Department. Eddy is an able officer and has seen combat service. However, he was No. 1 on the list—even ahead of several important lieutenant generals, including the famed combat officer, Lt. Gen. Joe Collins who captured Cherbourg and who is now Deputy Chief of Staff.

Publicity expert Eddy was ranked ahead of Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, now commander in Germany, also ahead of Lt. Gen. LeRoy Lutes who did such an important job of cleaning up supply-transportation snags in France, and ahead of Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway, who was runnerup to be Deputy Chief of Staff.

In other words, the publicity chief of the War Department, though of lesser rank, was suddenly promoted ahead of these lieutentant generals. Looks like there might be something to the claim that Army's chief interest is now publicity for military conscription.

Kill More Rats—Eat More Meat

The United States could probably save 400,000,000 bushels of grain annually by two measures alone—control of rats and eliminating weevil from grain bins, elevators and freight cars.

Few people realize the tremendous waste from these sources alone. Rats and other rodents, for instance, eat or waste around 200,000,000 bushels of grain annually. The waste in some corncribs is terrific. And in order to undertake an effective rat-extermination campaign, it is almost necessary for every farmer in a community to exterminate at the same time. Otherwise, teh rats leave one farm for another.

Last year Congress so drastically cut the funds of the Bureau of Wildlife that its campaign against rats was knocked cold.

Weevils and other insects in grain bins and grain elevators destroy another 300,000,000 bushels, which could be eliminated by proper spraying and fumigation.

Plant diseases also take a tremendous toll, but can be partly controlled. The wheat crop in Montana was increased 25 per cent this year by spraying weeds.

What Congress should do immediately and at the special session is to pass the appropriation requested by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson for insecticide control and soil conservation. This should be voted hand in hand with foreign relief. In fact, one is essential to the other.

Communists Work To Make Marshall Plan Expensive

By MARK SULLIVAN

The debate in Congress over stopgap aid to France, Italy and Austria has been hardly a debate at all. As an Administration measure and policy, it had the support of Democrats, and the overwhelming assent of Republicans was shown in the Senate vote last week. Forty-four Republicans voted for the full amount, $597,000,000, with only 3 Republicans opposed.

Final action on the stop-gap aid will be completed this week. Thereafter Congress will turn to what will be looked upon at first as consideration of President Truman's proposals for combating high prices and inflation. But quickly it will be realized that inflation is tied up to the long-term aid for 16 European countries contemplated under the Marshall Plan.

If debate were limited to measures against inflation and high prices, it could be controversial and no doubt will be for a while. There will be charge and counter-charge about "who done it," whether inflation is blameable upon the Democratic Administration or upon the Republicans in Congress. The Democrats will put much of the blame on the termination of price-control under OPA in 1946, and will charge Republican leaders with responsibility. Republicans will reply that when OPA was terminated, Congress as well as the Administration were Democratic. There will be controversy over policies, about wages and otherwise, which the Truman Administration followed immediately after the ending of the war in 1945, and the effect of these policies as bearing on high prices and inflation.

Inflation Interwoven With Plan

But with realization that inflation is interwoven with Marshall Plan aid to Europe there will be reason for Congress to be as nonpartisan on this as it has been on the stopgap aid. Inflation and high prices are not only a domestic danger. They are an acute danger also in the world conflict between Russia as the spearhead for domination of the world by Communism, and the United States as the spearHead of resistance.

In the present stage of that conflict, the desperate deter ination of the Communist heads is to prevent the Marshall Plan from working. To that end one of their strategies is to make the plan expensive to us. This purpose is served by every advance in prices in America. Already the advance in prices since July has made the cost of the Marshall Plan some 10 per cent higher than the original estimate, which was based on prices as of July first.

The further strategy of the Communist heads is to interrupt industry in France and Italy, so as to increase the quantity of goods needed from us under the Marshall Plan. The Communist - inspired strikes and destruction in those countries has added billions to the original July estimate of the quantity of goods needed from us, hence added billions to the cost of the Marshall Plan.

This factor of increase is not within our control. The French government has acted to end strikes and prevent future ones. Our officials watch with anxious hope to see whether the measures will be effective. If the Communist heads are able to bring about still more destruction and continue to prevent production, the cost of the Marshall Plan to us will continue to increase.

Serves Double Communist Strategy

Making the Marsnall Plan expensive serves the double Communist strategy. One part of it is to bring about a public opinion in America and an attitude in Congress that might hesitate to go on with the plan. But this strategy serves also the over-all strategic concept of the Communists. Their over-all purpose is to destroy throughout the world, the system of free enterprise and capitalism. The principal seat of that system is in the United States. If they can cause our system to collapse, through violent inflation or otherwise, the world battle of the Communis will be won. A tangible hope of the Communists is for an inflation in America so severe that it will destroy our economic system.

That is the stake as Congress deals with inflation. We must prevent it for the primary purpose of saving ourselves and our system. We must prevent it for the further purpose, not to be considered secondary, of keeping it possible for us to go on with the Marshall Plan and give Europe the aid it needs. The immediate purpose of the Communist heads, next to their major one of destruction of our economic system at home, is to set up Communism in western Europe, confronting us across the Atlantic.

To assume that our politics must be non-partisan as respects foreign affairs, but that it can be partisan and controversial, and hence dilatory, as respects measures to combat inflation would be a fallacy threatening our national life. The present emergency calls for the spirit that came to us after the one at Pearl Harbor six years ago.

Truman Administration Ready To Approve Tax-Cut Measure

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — The Truman Administration has decided to approve a tax-reduction bill at the regular session of congress, provided one important condition is met.

There must be enough money available after providing foreign aid and a certain sum for debt retirement to yield a surplus for tax reduction.

Most of the experts on Capitol Hill who are familiar with the budget figures and the anticipated tax receipts now estimate a surplus above the domestic and foreign-aid items sufficient to take care of foreign aid, debt retirement, and tax reduction.

On how much remains for tax reduction depends to same extent what sort of a tax measure will be signed by the President. There must be "equitable tax revision."

Just what is meant by "equitable" is open to wide differences of opinnion and yet, as happens with all legislation for which there is a genuine demand, a compromise is not difficult to work out.

The Administration point of view has just been disclosed in a speech at Houston, Texas, delivered over the week end by Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder. It is one of the best speeches that has come from any member of the cabinet on the economic outlook and it contains many sensible statements worthy of careful examination.

Tax Revision Advocated

Thus Secretary Snyder says unequivocally that "one of the most effective steps we can take in government towards fiscal soundness would be an equitable revision of our tax structure which today does not fully meet the requirements of our modern expanding economy."

Mr. Snyder recognizes frankly that there are obstacles in our tax system "which if unchanged would sooner or later interfere with expanding markets for the products of American industries." He asks that attention be given to "some of the inequities which have crept into the American system and—tolerable during conditions of war—should now be eradicated."

Mr. Snyder does not hesitate to point out the inequities as between an incorporated and unincorporated business and the fact that corporation stockholders pay twice in what is known as "double taxation of dividends." The Secretary referred specifically, too, to some of the excise taxes and especially the tax on the transportation of freight which together with other excise taxes produce "unimportant amounts of revenue or are unduly burdensome on individuals with low incomes" and still other excise taxes which "would under less favorable conditions make it difficult to carry on profitable enterprise."

The secretary expressed his views in somewhat general terms but there was no mistaking his meaning especially as he took occasion to reiterate comments he made in May 1947 before the House ways and means committee. One paragraph, particularly, taken from that testimony which he quotes now in his Houston speech reads:

"The tax system should produce adequate revenue. It should be equitable in its treatment of different groups. It should interfere as little as possible with incentives to work and to invest. It should help maintain the broad consumer markets which are essential for high-level production and employment."

Healthy Beginning

When the man who has the paramount influence in the President's cabinet on fiscal and tax matters comes out clearly for sound principles of tax revision, it is a healthy beginning. Certainly the managerial class and the persons with incomes between $5,000 and $15,000 a year who have taken the deepest cut in "take-home pay" of any group in America during the war and since V-J Day have not been treated equitably. Certainly this is the class which in the past has been thrifty and bought out of its savings the securities on which our whole risk-capital system has been dependent.

It is encouraging to find the Secretary of the Treasury adopting an objective approach to the problem of tax revision. For it isn't a mere matter of tax rates for particular brackets. It isn't really a matter of how much money is saved for one group as against another. It is at bottom a problem of how to keep the economic system healthy by preventing the introduction of state socialism wherein the government not only furnishes all the capital for business but also regiments the workers. Tax revision contains the key to the preservation of a sound economic system and to the maintenance of full employment and high-level production. The Secretary of the Treasury, a Democrat, says so.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE TRUMAN Administration has accepted the Henry Wallace formula that a crisis is inevitable and that, therefore the United States must talk its way into one. Wallace started that line of conversation almost immediately after the war, actually specifying the time and nature of the crisis. On November 29, 1945, Henry Wallace predicted 7,000,000 unemployed in 1946. This did not occur then and it has not occurred yet.

Many New Deal economists have been predicting a crisis as inevitable since Wallace started that gag and the Communists have a "Boom or Bust" line which they use in all their propaganda against the United States throughout the world. But the crisis does not come.

As a matter of fact, the Luckman Dramatization, which has failed so miserably, was the first signal that the Truman Administration had adopted as its political measure the Wallace concept of the inevitable crisis. The directing genius of the Luckman effort was Abe Fortas, who is one of the extremely smart young men of the New Deal. Fortas was graduated from Yale Law School in 1933, joined the legal division of the AAA that same year and remained in one job or another of the government until Truman took over. He reappeared in what is euphemistically called a Citizens Committee—that is, the Luckman Dramatization—as counsel.

The whole point of Luckman activity was that a crisis had come to American agriculture resulting in a grain shortage. His one success was to shut down American distilleries so that European and Canadian distilleries could export more liquor to the United States. But no evidence produced by his committee or by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson proves that there is a grain shortage in the United States. True, there is an apparent grain dislocation in the world, but that dislocation does not involve the United States in a crisis unless this country attempts to feed the world.

As that cannot be done under any circumstances, any program to do it would lead to a crisis. In a word, there is no agricultural crisis, but the Government can make one.

Meanwhile, subsidies for agricultural and other products have risen until they will amount to $15,200,000,000 by June 30, 1948, for the period beginning in 1934. This fiscal year such subsidies will amount to $1,100,000,000 for farmers alone.

Having stirred up the fear that there is a crisis in agriculture, the Administration seeks to give the impression that there is a critical shortage in steel. Steel production is running at about 97.7 capacity, roughly 1,700 tons a week. There is no steel crisis in the United States, but if the Government intends to send American-made steel products to all countries in huge quantities, it is more than this country can do and there must be a steel crisis.

In a word, there is no steel crisis in this country now and no actual shortage of steel, but the Government is making a crisis by excess imports.

True, the purchasing power of the American dollar is down and there is an excess of money in circulation. It was Harry Truman, again basing himself on Wallace statistics and conclusions—confusions, if you prefer—who started the inflation by proposing increased wages on the assumption that wages could be raised while prices would remain stationary. This was in 1945. Of course, this did not happen. Wages went up; prices went up. There have been two major wage increases and they were accompanied by price increases. Meanwhile, money in circulation increased from about $5,000,000,000 in 1933 to $28,000,000,000 in 1947. The total bank deposits and currency outside banks rose from about $42,000,000,000 in 1933 to about $170,000,000,000 in 1947. The money supply increased about $3,000,000,000 between May and September.

During all those years the Government was in control of the economy of the country and possessed ample legal measures to curtail the volume of circulation of currency.

If we face a money crisis, it is of the Government's making. Actually, there is no crisis in sight, except that politicians seem to want to create the impression that there is one around the corner for whatever dubious advantage they can get out of fear.

The Tie That Binds

A man's word, accepted because you have confidence in it, needs no other endorsements. It is the tie that binds. Any agreement, in which there is a lack of confidence, is not worth the paper on which it is written.

The elder J. P. Morgan once stated that he would, or had, loaned a million dollars on the character of the man alone. And in all walks of life a man is often backed with enthusiasm because of the confidence placed in him. We back our government only so long as we have confidence in the ones who are our representatives. If we lose our confidence in them we replace them.

Confidence in ourselves is the tie that binds us to a sure success. We put ourselves in the hands of the railroad engineer, on our travels, and we have confidence in the Captain of the ship that we take for a trip on the sea. We put ourselves in the hands of a physician or surgeon, because we have confidence in him.

Lack of confidence is almost sure to end in tragedy. That is how important it is never to lose this confidence. It's what holds friends to us. We dismiss from us those in whom we have no confidence. We learn to trust authorities—our histories, our scientists, and our newspapers, because we have this confidence in them.

Certain marks assert confidence in an article, like the name "Sterling" on silver, and the signatures of the creators of fine furniture, and an endless number of artistic creations. That "hall mark" means everything. It asserts genuineness.

We work, and live better, when we have confidence in the future. We know that we must go on. No matter what the confusion and doubts, no matter what the setbacks, we know that we must do our share to make this a better world in which to live. If we all had confidence that we can make this a better world, it would be a better world. Each of us has an individual responsibility, and if we can make our influence felt far and wide so much the better.

Confidence is the tie that binds all through life. We even like to trade in stores where we have confidence in the merchandise carried. Recently I had my eyes fitted by a firm that once made the glasses for Abraham Lincoln! That fact alone gave me confidence in their wares.

No Strikes But Rebellion Is Sweeping Over France

When the Communist Manifesto, 99 years ago, made its famous appeal, "Workers of the World, Unite!", it was using what passed for argument. Today in France that appeal is being made wtih a club and a gun.

The most significant fact about the wave of strikes in France is the way the workers are being herded about by their Communist leaders. Around 2,000,000 men and women are now idle. That represents about 10 per cent of the total working population. But only a fraction of these strikers walked out voluntarily. They were ordered out by their leaders, under orders from Communist chief Maurice Thorez, acting under orders from Moscow—from which he has just returned.

Through comrade Benoit Frachon, Thorez controls the General Federation of Labor. Of the CGT's total of 38 national unions, 20 have joined in the conspiracy to overthrow the government by paralyzing the country. But most of the rank and file preferred to remain on the job, as was proved by the first secret strike votes. Thereupon, the Communist Central Strike Committee put a stop to strike ballots, on the ground that "they disrupt workers' unity!"

Why do the French strikers stand for this slavery? The answer is that many don't and that most of the others fear broken heads if they object. In northern and central France, one-third of the 3,000,000 who were out early this week have gone back to work. In other cases, like the struck coal mines, many who try to return are met at the pit heads by armed Communist thugs. Some 80 per cent of the railway strikers have returned, but train service is still crippled by rail blocks and murderous sabotage. In industrial St. Etienne and Arles strike committee "police" literally took over the cities and for a day terrorized the populace.

This is not labor trouble. It is attempted revolution. That is why the National Assembly has given Premier Schuman drastic power to curb agitators for strikes and sabotage. Schuman has the backing of anywhere from 70 to 90 per cent of the population.

The too-familiar quarrels of the mild Left, Center and Right in France have been put aside. All but the agents of a foreign power are now standing behind their government to defend the hard-won liberties of Frenchmen. Their struggle is the most momentous event in the world today.

Wave Of Panic Buying Hits Cities In Russia

Reports of a "wave of panic buying" in Moscow and other Russian cities are still unconfirmed, but they add strength to the suspicion that the Soviet Union is feeling some of the same stresses and strains which have gripped other nations during the postwar period.

Although her population is huge, Russia's manpower losses are immense. More square miles of territory were overrun by hostile armies in Russia than in any other Allied land. And, though no exact figures are available, it is probable that the land of the Bolsheviks lost a greater percentage of her industrial plant than any other Allied nation.

The Soviet dictatorship may be able to hide the effects of these losses upon the Russian economy more effectively than other governments which do not maintain an iron censorship. But a completely controlled economy is also subject to economic law and human nature is not very different in a dictatorship than in a free land.

A people which has already seen the cost of living arbitrarily hiked by government decree (to absorb excess purchasing power) might easily stage another wave of panic buying on the rumor that the government was about to order another whopping bost in prices.

None of this is a guarantee that the Soviet outfit is about to collapse or that the long-suffering people of Russia are about to revolt against their Communist masters. But if the Russian government is having serious economic troubles at home, this would help to explain the desperate Communist move to take over in France and Italy.

Woe Is Us!

News has one unfortunate qualification: Usually, the worse it is, the bigger it is. There is little reader appeal, for instance, in the headline "John Brown Feels Fine." Much more alluring is the caption "Brown Slowly Succumbing to Mysterious Ailment."

This philosophy is exemplified in the selection of the 10 biggest news stories of 1947, compiled by the United Press. The list is headed by the high cost of living. Other events, in order of their importance, were ranked as follows:

The "cold war;" passage of the Taft-Hartley Law and subsequent litigation; the Hughes-Meyers investigation; Texas City, Tex., disaster; Princess Elizabeth's romance; partition of India; series of airplane accidents; Arab-Jewish controversy over Palestine; the World Series.

Except for a romantic angle, HCL has everything. It affects everybody, it is directly concerned in everything they do, and it touches them in the pocketbook, which is a notoriously sensitive spot. And it is certainly bad news. (Come to think of it, even the cost of courtship has gone up).

The unhappy aspects of most of the other stories are the ones that draw the continuing headlines, although it is essentially good news that underlies such events as the emergence of independent Indian states and the evolution of labor-management relations implicit in the Taft-Hartley Law. (Does anyone feel particularly happy about the "cold war" headlines?)

Only in two of the 10 stories is happiness a real factor. That is in the accounts of the courtship and wedding of Princess Elizabeth, and in the coverage of the World Series. Truly, company loves misery.

There having been some confusion over the Roosevelts, and an effort made to connect Tom Dewey with the famous admiral, it should be explained Governor Warren of California is not the hero of Bucker Hill.

Harold Stassen is complaining of the President pickers. The trouble seems to be that they are not looking in his direction.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

ENCEPHALITIS, SO-CALLED SLEEPING SICKNESS

ENCEPHALITIS (inflammation of the brain) is sometimes called "sleeping sickness" because many of its victims are unusually drowsy. The malady may occur as a complication of another disorder and there are a number of types. During recent years the variety produced by certain virus organisms is being recognized more frequently and consequently is receiving considerable attention from medical authorities.

This peculiar form of encephalitis usually begins suddenly and brings on symptoms resembling the flu. The same onset may be observed in any virus infection and, therefore, is of little diagnostic help to the physician in the beginning of the illness. The temperature occasionally rises to 106 degrees F. and the sufferer is plagued with headache, especially behind the eyes, and a pepless feeling. The first indication that the brain is affected is the development of stiffness of the neck, and sometimes this is the only clew that encephalitis is present. Pain in the back may be noted if the leg is raised while in a recumbent position. Other individuals become confused, disoriented, uncooperative, and restless.

In severe cases, lethargy almost reaches the point of stupor or coma. The majority can be aroused sufficiently to answer questions but if the conversation wanes, they doze off again within a few seconds. It is at this stage that the lay term "sleeping sickness" is most apropos. The muscles of the arms and legs may become stiff and difficult to move; in others, paralysis is noted and the condition may be hard to distinguish from polio. Eye changes take place, particularly when the tiny muscles surrounding the socket are involved. Crossing is common if the patient attempts to follow objects with his eyes. Diagnosis is confirmed by removing some of the spinal fluid and having it analyzed. This test is the only way in which one type of encephalitis can be differentiated from another.

It has been established that a virus is responsible but where does it come from? The organisms capable of producing such symptoms have been found in domestic animals, especially horses. They have likewise been isolated from poultry, pigeons, and pheasants as well as a number of wild birds and animals. Personal contact with these sources may be necessary but it is known that mosquitoes and ticks can act as intermediate hosts. Insects are undoubtedly a factor when the disease sprikes in epidemic proportions but this does not explain isolated cases in widely scattered communities.

There is no preventive or treatment worthy of the name. Recovery is the rule in most instances in spite of weeks or months of illness. Bed rest is essential; should the patient become active too soon, all too often there is a recurrence. The victim feels better if the room is dark because light hurts the eyes and may aggravate headache. Noise and disturbances should be avoided, more so when restlessness and mental confusion exist. The sulfonamides and penicillin are administered but are of questionable value. Should complications arise they are treated accordingly.

Cheese it, men, those clothes designing characters are on the rampage again. This time they're after us.

Not content with dealing us a sneaky "new look for women" punch to our pocket books, they now want to take away our pocket.

They contend that it's silly for men to go to the trouble of buying a suit that fits nicely and then lump up the line by stuffing the pockets with cigarette packs, lighters, racing form, old letters and money.

They're nice enough to concede that a man has to carry things with him and they have a ready solution . . . handbags. Men's handbags!

Just so I could speak with authority on the subject I borrowed a medium sized lady's handbag and tried taking a few steps in front of a mirror, and a few steps was all it took. A handbag throws the male gait off true just enough that . . . there's no getting around it . . you have to walk with a list.

If these characters think I'm going to toddle into the pool room and pull my private cue ball from the depths of an alligator-grain handbag they don't know much about pool rooms, and that's not hard to believe.

Nope, even here in Hollywood where a guy can augment nature from the tips of his elevator shoes to the top of his toupee, I hold no hope for the male handbag advocate.

I'll go on pinching pennies so the little lady can pinch her waist, but keep those new look guys away from me.

Personally, I'm not interested in "looks" of any kind until they get the hemlines back up where they belong.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—In wartime, military security hushes up a lot of Army mistakes. In peacetime, people are usually too busy thinking about other things to safeguard against future mistakes. However, a few Congressmen, such as Rep. George Bender, Ohio Republican, have persisted in pointing up Army faults in peacetime and demanding that something be done about them before Congress votes on military conscription.

Rep. Bender, with the help of Lindsay Warren's efficient General Accounting Office, has unearthed the shocking fact that several Army officers who decided how much money the Government owed war contractors, thereafter went to work for those same contractors. Some officers were hired so quickly it looked as if a deal had been made at the very same time the Army officers were deciding how much the Government should pay these firms. For instance:

Maj. George W. Parker was the Army's contracting officer assigned to the Howard Aircraft Corp. of St. Charles, Ill. He spent from Aug. 19 to Sept. 12, 1944 adjusting final payments under this contract. And just twelve days after he was discharged from the Army, Parker became general manager of Howard Aircraft.

Also, Maj. Kerwin Hagerty was Army procurement planning and control officer at the North Western Aviation Corp. of St. Paul from Sept. 27, 1945 to March 21, 1946. After winding up this work, he left the Army and became vice president in charge of production.

Col. Forest Smith of Cincinnati held a relatively minor job with a Cincinnati law firm before the war. During the war, he was not only the original contracting officer for the Army when it signed up with the Schwitzer-Cummings Co., of Indianapolis, but also terminated several contracts between that firm and the Government. This meant he had to decide how much the Army owed the firm. Less than a month after his discharge, Smith got a $15,000 salary with Schwitzer-Cummings.

Also Capt. G. I. Calvert was the Army's representative with Sheffield Steel of Houston, Texas. One of his jobs was to check on final inventories when the Army ended its contract to make airplane struts. Quitting the Army, Calvert got a nice job with the Sheffield Steel Co. as metallurgical engineer.

The Army has strange and mysterious ways of doing things. Witness the promotions of 100 of the top brass to be permanent generals.

Those who studied the list carefully couldn't escape the impression that the selection board is now giving a lot of weight to parlor politics. For instance: It's been an Army practice that no officer shall be promoted to the permanent grade of general unless he has seen overseas service in World War II.

However, high on the latest list of promotions to major general was Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons. It so happened that Persons did not go abroad at all during the recent war. He served right here in the nation's Capital, in fact, most of the time under the Capitol Dome.

Persons' job was to lobby with Congress, get Army appropriations passed, and generally kep Congress in a happy frame of mind. He did an excellent job.

In return, he is now promoted to the permanent rank of major general despite the rule against such promotions when an officer has not served overseas. With the Army, lobbying rates high.

Another general on the list is Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, chief publicity expert for the War Department. Eddy is an able officer and has seen combat service. However, he was No. 1 on the list—even ahead of several important lieutenant generals, including the famed combat officer, Lt. Gen. Joe Collins who captured Cherbourg and who is now Deputy Chief of Staff.

Publicity expert Eddy was ranked ahead of Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, now commander in Germany, also ahead of Lt. Gen. LeRoy Lutes who did such an important job of cleaning up supply-transportation snags in France, and ahead of Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway, who was runnerup to be Deputy Chief of Staff.

In other words, the publicity chief of the War Department, though of lesser rank, was suddenly promoted ahead of these lieutentant generals. Looks like there might be something to the claim that Army's chief interest is now publicity for military conscription.

Kill More Rats—Eat More Meat

The United States could probably save 400,000,000 bushels of grain annually by two measures alone—control of rats and eliminating weevil from grain bins, elevators and freight cars.

Few people realize the tremendous waste from these sources alone. Rats and other rodents, for instance, eat or waste around 200,000,000 bushels of grain annually. The waste in some cornerib is terrific. And in order to undertake an effective rat-extermination campaign, it is almost necessary for every farmer in a community to exterminate at the same time. Otherwise, teh rats leave one farm for another.

Last year Congress so drastically cut the funds of the Bureau of Wildlife that its campaign against rats was knocked cold.

Weevils and other insects in grain bins and grain elevators destroy another 300,000,000 bushels, which could be eliminated by proper spraying and fumigation.

Plant diseases also take a tremendous toll, but can be partly controlled. The wheat crop in Montana was increased 25 per cent this year by spraying weeds.

What Congress should do immediately and at the special session is to pass the appropriation requested by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson for insecticide control and soil conservation. This should be voted hand in hand with foreign relief. In fact, one is essential to the other.

Communists Work To Make Marshall Plan Expensive

By MARK SULLIVAN

The debate in Congress over stop-gap aid to France, Italy and Austria has been hardly a debate at all. As an Administration measure and policy, it had the support of Democrats, and the overwhelming assent of Republicans was shown in the Senate vote last week. Forty-four Republicans voted for the full amount, $597,000,000, with only 3 Republicans opposed.

Final action on the stop-gap aid will be completed this week. Thereafter Congress will turn to what will be looked upon at first as consideration of President Truman's proposals for combating high prices and inflation. But quickly it will be realized that inflation is tied up to the long-term aid for 16 European countries contemplated under the Marshall Plan.

If debate were limited to measures against inflation and high prices, it could be controversial and no doubt will be for a while. There will be charge and counter-charge about "who done it," whether inflation is blameable upon the Democratic Administration or upon the Republicans in Congress. The Democrats will put much of the blame on the termination of price-control under OPA in 1946, and will charge Republican leaders with responsibility. Republicans will reply that when OPA was terminated, Congress as well as the Administration were Democratic. There will be controversy over policies, about wages and otherwise, which the Truman Administration followed immediately after the ending of the war in 1945, and the effect of these policies as bearing on high prices and inflation.

Inflation Interwoven With Plan

But with realization that inflation is interwoven with Marshall Plan aid to Europe there will be reason for Congress to be as non-partisan on this as it has been on the stopgap aid. Inflation and high prices are not only a domestic danger. They are an acute danger also in the world conflict between Russia as the spearhead for domination of the world by Communism, and the United States as the spearhead of resistance.

In the present stage of that conflict, the desperate deter ination of the Communist heads is to prevent the Marshall Plan from working. To that end one of their strategies is to make the plan expensive to us. This purpose is served by every advance in prices in America. Already the advance in prices since July has made the cost of the Marshall Plan some 10 per cent higher than the original estimate, which was based on prices as of July first.

The further strategy of the Communist heads is to interrupt industry in France and Italy, so as to increase the quantity of goods needed from us under the Marshall Plan. The Communist - inspired strikes and destruction in those countries has added billions to the original July estimate of the quantity of goods needed from us, hence added billions to the cost of the Marshall Plan.

This factor of increase is not within our control. The French government has acted to end strikes and prevent future ones. Our officials watch with anxious hope to see whether the measures will be effective. If the Communist heads are able to bring about still more destruction and continue to prevent production, the cost of the Marshall Plan to us will continue to increase.

Serves Double Communist Strategy

Making the Marshall Plan expensive serves the double Communist strategy. One part of it is to bring about a public opinion in America and an attitude in Congress that might hesitate to go on with the plan. But this strategy serves also the over-all strategic concept of the Communists. Their over-all purpose is to destroy throughout the world, the system of free enterprise and capitalism. The principal seat of that system is in the United States. If they can cause our system to collapse, through violent inflation or otherwise, the world battle of the Communis will be won. A tangible hope of the Communists is for an inflation in America so severe that it will destroy our economic system.

That is the stake as Congress deals with inflation. We must prevent it for the primary purpose of saving ourselves and our system. We must prevent it for the further purpose, not to be considered secondary, of keeping it possible for us to go on with the Marshall Plan and give Europe the aid it needs. The immediate purpose of the Communist heads, next to their major one of destruction of our economic system at home, is to set up Communism in western Europe, confronting us across the Atlantic.

To assume that our politics must be non-partisan as respects foreign affairs, but that it can be partisan and controversial, and hence dilatory, as respects measures to combat inflation would be a fallacy threatening our national life. The present emergency calls for the spirit that came to us after the one at Pearl Harbor six years ago.

Truman Administration Ready To Approve Tax-Cut Measure

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — The Truman Administration has decided to approve a tax-reduction bill at the regular session of congress, provided one important condition is met.

There must be enough money available after providing foreign aid and a certain sum for debt retirement to yield a surplus for tax reduction.

Most of the experts on Capitol Hill who are familiar with the budget figures and the anticipated tax receipts now estimate a surplus above the domestic and foreign-aid items sufficient to take care of foreign aid, debt retirement, and tax reduction.

On how much remains for tax reduction depends to same extent what sort of a tax measure will be signed by the President. There must be "equitable tax revision."

Just what is meant by "equitable" is open to wide differences of opinion and yet, as happens with all legislation for which there is a genuine demand, a compromise is not difficult to work out.

The Administration point of view has just been disclosed in a speech at Houston, Texas, delivered over the week end by Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder. It is one of the best speeches that has come from any member of the cabinet on the economic outlook and it contains many sensible statements worthy of careful examination.

Tax Revision Advocated

Thus Secretary Snyder says unequivocally that "one of the most effective steps we can take in government towards fiscal soundness would be an equitable revision of our tax structure which today does not fully meet the requirements of our modern expanding economy."

Mr. Snyder recognizes frankly that there are obstacles in our tax system "which if unchanged would sooner or later interfere with expanding markets for the products of American industries." He asks that attention be given to "some of the inequities which have crept into the American system and—tolerable during conditions of war—should now be eradicated."

Mr. Snyder does not hesitate to point out the inequities as between an incorporated and unincorporated business and the fact that corporation stockholders pay twice in what is known as "double taxation of dividends." The Secretary referred specifically, too, to some of the excise taxes and especially the tax on the transportation of freight which together with other excise taxes produce "unimportant amounts of revenue or are unduly burdensome on individuals with low incomes" and still other excise taxes which "would under less favorable conditions make it difficult to carry on profitable enterprise."

The secretary expressed his views in somewhat general terms but there was no mistaking his meaning especially as he took occasion to reiterate comments he made in May 1947 before the House ways and means committee. One paragraph, particularly, taken from that testimony which he quotes now in his Houston speech reads:

"The tax system should produce adequate revenue. It should be 'equitable' in its treatment of different groups. It should interfere as little as possible with incentives to work and to invest. It should help maintain the broad consumer markets which are essential for high-level production and employment."

Healthy Beginning

When the man who has the paramount influence in the President's cabinet on fiscal and tax matters comes out clearly for sound principles of tax revision, it is a healthy beginning. Certainly the managerial class and the persons with incomes between $5,000 and $15,000 a year who have taken the deepest cut in "take-home pay" of any group in America during the war and since V-J Day have not been treated equitably. Certainly this is the class which in the past has been thrifty and bought out of its savings the securities on which our whole risk-capital system has been dependent.

It is encouraging to find the Secretary of the Treasury adopting an objective approach to the problem of tax revision. For it isn't a mere matter of tax rates for particular brackets. It isn't really a matter of how much money is saved for one group as against another. It is at bottom a problem of how to keep the economic system healthy by preventing the introduction of state socialism wherein the government not only furnishes all the capital for business but also regiments the workers. Tax revision contains the key to the preservation of a sound economic system and to the maintenance of full employment and high-level production. The Secretary of the Treasury, a Democrat, says so.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE TRUMAN Administration has accepted the Henry Wallace formula that a crisis is inevitable and that therefore the United States must talk its way into one. Wallace started that line of conversation almost immediately after the war, actually specifying the time and nature of the crisis. On November 29, 1945, Henry Wallace predicted 7,000,000 unemployed in 1946. This did not occur then and it has not occurred yet.

Many New Deal economists have been predicting a crisis as inevitable since Wallace started that gag and the Communists have a "Boom or Bust" line which they use in all their propaganda against the United States throughout the world. But the crisis does not come.

As a matter of fact, the Luckman Dramatization, which has failed so miserably, was the first signal that the Truman Administration had adopted as its political measure the Wallace concept of the inevitable crisis. The directing genius of the Luckman effort was Abe Fortas, who is one of the extremely smart young men of the New Deal. Fortas was graduated from Yale Law School in 1933, joined the legal division of the AAA that same year and remained in one job or another of the government until Truman took over. He reappeared in what is euphemistically called a Citizens Committee—that is, the Luckman Dramatization—as counsel.

The whole point of Luckman activity was that a crisis had come to American agriculture resulting in a grain shortage. His one success was to shut down American distilleries so that European and Canadian distilleries could export more liquor to the United States. But no evidence produced by his committee or by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson proves that there is a grain shortage in the United States. True, there is an apparent grain dislocation in the world, but that dislocation does not involve the United States in a crisis unless this country attempts to feed the world.

As that cannot be done under any circumstances, any program to do it would lead to a crisis. In a word, there is no agricultural crisis, but the Government can make one.

Meanwhile, subsidies for agricultural and other products have risen until they will amount to $15,200,000,000 by June 30, 1948, for the period beginning in 1934. This fiscal year such subsidies will amount to $1,100,000,000 for farmers alone.

Having stirred up the fear that there is a crisis in agriculture, the Administration seeks to give the impression that there is a critical shortage in steel. Steel production is running at about 97.7 capacity, roughly 1,700 tons a week. There is no steel crisis in the United States, but if the Government intends to send American-made steel products to all countries in huge quantities, it is more than this country can do and there must be a steel crisis.

In a word, there is no steel crisis in this country now and no actual shortage of steel, but the Government is making a crisis by excess imports.

True, the purchasing power of the American dollar is down and there is an excess of money in circulation. It was Harry Truman, again basing himself on Wallace statistics and conclusions—confusions, if you prefer—who started the inflation by proposing increased wages on the assumption that wages could be raised while prices would remain stationary. This was in 1945. Of course, this did not happen. Wages went up; prices went up. There have been two major wage increases and they were accompanied by price increases. Meanwhile, money in circulation increased from about $5,000,000,000 in 1933 to $28,000,000,000 in 1947. The total bank deposits and currency outside banks rose from about $42,000,000,000 in 1933 to about $170,000,000,000 in 1947. The money supply increased about $3,000,000,000 between May and September.

During all those years the Government was in control of the economy of the country and possessed ample legal measures to curtail the volume of circulation of currency.

If we face a money crisis, it is of the Government's making. Actually, there is no crisis in sight, except that politicians seem to want to create the impression that there is one around the corner for whatever dubious advantage they can get out of fear.

Today's Talk

The Tie That Binds

A man's word, accepted because you have confidence in it, needs no other endorsements. It is the tie that binds. Any agreement, in which there is a lack of confidence, is not worth the paper on which it is written.

The elder J. P. Morgan once stated that he would, or had, loaned a million dollars on the character of the man alone. And in all walks of life a man is often backed with enthusiasm because of the confidence placed in him. We back our government only so long as we have confidence in the ones who are our representatives. If we lose our confidence in them we replace them.

Confidence in ourselves is the tie that binds us to a sure success. We put ourselves in the hands of the railroad engineer, on our travels, and we have confidence in the Captain of the ship that we take for a trip on the sea. We put ourselves in the hands of a physician or surgeon, because we have confidence in him.

Lack of confidence is almost sure to end in tragedy. That is how important it is never to lose this confidence. It's what holds friends to us. We dismiss from us those in whom we have no confidence. We learn to trust authorities—our histories, our scientists, and our newspapers, because we have this confidence in them.

Certain marks assert confidence in an article, like the name "Sterling" on silver, and the signatures of the creators of fine furniture, and an endless number of artistic creations. That "hall mark" means everything. It asserts genuineness.

We work, and live better, when we have confidence in the future. We know that we must go on. No matter what the confusion and doubts, no matter what the setbacks, we know that we must do our share to make this a better world in which to live. If we all had confidence that we can make this a better world, it would be a better world. Each of us has an individual responsibility, and if we can make our influence felt far and wide so much the better.

Confidence is the tie that binds all through life. We even like to trade in stores where we have confidence in the merchandise carried. Recently I had my eyes fitted by a firm that once made the glasses for Abraham Lincoln! That fact alone gave me confidence in their wares.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—(INS)—Some deep-dome from the editorial page's backfield ought to break into the clear about now and draw certain thundering conclusions from the public indignation over the Louis-Walcott fight decision.

The public pulse must indeed be jumpy when the citizens stay mad this long over a prize fight that once was held in such a low estate that the New York boxing board branded it an exhibition instead of a contest.

A man called me up from Dallas at 2 a. m. Sunday morning to shout about 20 minutes of long-distance indignation over the dubious duke which Judges Forbes and Monroe gave to Louis. With indignation which only a Texan could muster, he paid off seven bets (at 8-to-1)—so adamant was he in his conviction that Walcott had won.

Judging from clogged newspaper switchboards and vehement wires and letters to the sports editors and columnists, the bout aroused more hair-bristling than has the news of Arab attacks on U. S. embassies and legations, overseas, the Russian political and economic conquest of Europe, zooming domectic prices and other stunning problems.

Incomparably rawer deals have been pulled in boxing than the one of last Friday night. The game is basically sordid, threaded with a brand of exploitation besides which the viler snarls of capital and labor fade into insignificance.

It is a game in which a hoodlum can and often does operate with the blessing of the boxing community and the support of an often alarming proportion of the historians. The standard managerial "bite" of 33-⅓ per cent — 55 per cent in Louis' case for many years — would bring a blush of envy to any sweat-shop operator.

Boxing has its own culture, its peculiar ethics, which remove it from the realm of most enterprises. A boxing judge's word is law — whether he is some political hack or a good man — and there is no recourse to any higher Court of Appeal.

Then why the furore? Perhaps it is the times, perhaps the inherent fairness of the American citizen who roots for an underdog and wants to see him get all that's coming to him.

Louis believed he lost, which is the reason—plus disgust with his own performance—that made him stomp out of the ring immediately after the fight. Knowing the fellow to be the sportsman he is, I'm surprised that he didn't acknowledge his loss after the fight—though that, of course, would not have altered the decision.

We heard a military man come to Walcott's defense the other night when some one said that the type of fight he turned in—which consisted mainly of retreating and occasionally nailing the pushing Louis—was rotten tactics.

"The Red Army won a war that way," he pointed out, "and if it fights another one will do the same thing. It backed up farther than any army in modern history, spending the strength of the aggressors during the process.

"It was ready to back up far behind Moscow when the Germans made the blunder of hesitating, as Louis did a few times the other night."

Anyway, people are intensely sore for one thing. He was the first to admit that he was awful, though made to look a bit worse than he is. A fighter like Ray Robinson, the welterweight champion, might have stopped Louis as of Friday night.

The remarkable thing to me, however, is the continuing public indignation. It is a pity that the more important events of the day cannot be dramatized as vividly as was an unfair boxing decision at a house of joy named Madison Square Garden.

If we could get as downright sore as some of the aforementioned crisis, which threatened to plunge us into a more horrific war and economic chaos than that of 1939-45, we'd be saving a lot of lives here and now.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Nurse In Love With Her Patient Should Not Rush Decision

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 19 years old and madly in love with a fellow in the hospital with T.B. I am his nurse and am always with him.

He has told me so many times that he loves me, and I love him, too. He has told me not to wait for him and to go out and have a good time with other fellows. I have tried that, but I am just not happy with anyone but him. My mother keeps telling me that I don't really love him, and she says I don't know my own mind because I have dated many fellows and thought I loved them and later found out I didn't.

Should I keep waiting for him, or do as my mother says and forget about him? I don't think I ever could forget about him, though.

"A CONSTANT READER"

Dear "Constant Reader:"

It is perfectly possible, of course, that you have really met the man you love. But, because of the particular type of circumstances under which you have become acquainted with him, I think you should give the matter a special amount of time and care before making a decision.

As this man's nurse, it is very likely that you would have a protective and maternal feeling toward him which could easily develop into tenderness. The fact, too, that circumstances keep you so close to him all day is another reason why it would be easy for you to develop a special sort of feeling for him. But a feeling of this kind is not necessarily the kind of love that is best for a happy marital relationship.

I certainly don't think you need to decide arbitrarily to "forget" him, which would certainly be next to impossible as things stand. But I would advise going out with other men in your hours off duty and not concentrating any more than you have to on this sick man. I suggest that you follow this plan for six months to a year and then see how you feel.

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 19 years old and madly in love with a fellow in the hospital with T.B. I am his nurse and am always with him.

He has told me so many times that he loves me, and I love him, too. He has told me not to wait for him and to go out and have a good time with other fellows. I have tried that, but I am just not happy with anyone but him. My mother keeps telling me that I don't really love him, and she says I don't know my own mind because I have dated many fellows and thought I loved them and later found out I didn't.

Should I keep waiting for him, or do as my mother says and forget about him? I don't think I ever could forget about him, though.

"A CONSTANT READER"

Dear "Constant Reader:"

It is perfectly possible, of course, that you have really met the man you love. But, because of the particular type of circumstances under which you have become acquainted with him, I think you should give the matter a special amount of time and care before making a decision.

As this man's nurse, it is very likely that you would have a protective and maternal feeling toward him which could easily develop into tenderness. The fact, too, that circumstances keep you so close to him all day is another reason why it would be easy for you to develop a special sort of feeling for him. But a feeling of this kind is not necessarily the kind of love that is best for a happy marital relationship.

I certainly don't think you need to decide arbitrarily to "forget" him, which would certainly be next to impossible as things stand. But I would advise going out with other men in your hours off duty and not concentrating any more than you have to on this sick man. I suggest that you follow this plan for six months to a year and then see how you feel.

Council Seeks Land To Extend Second Street

Joseph C. Hauser, agent for the owners of a piece of property desired by the city for a sewer extension and possible later street development in the South End, was given until next Monday to submit a price to the Mayor and Council.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer told the council yesterday Hauser has turned down an offer of $500 but has not made a counter proposal. The council decided that unless Hauser makes a satisfactory offer by next Monday, condemnation proceedings will be started.

The land sought would provide for an extension of Second Street from an alley east and parallel to South Street to Wempe Drive. While it is not proposed to immediately extend the street a sewer is planned to provide service for Wempe Drive.

Accepts Lot Offer

The council accepted the offer of $120 by Robert W. Vandegrift, 9 Harrsion Street, for Lot 2 on McKinley Avenue and Lot 3 on Brown Avenue.

Two bids for a bulldozer and tractor were received but apparently only one bid meets the advertised specifications. The city asked for bids on a Rodger bulldozer and an Oliver industrial tractor and the Steinla Motor Company, city, submitted a figure of $1,888.18. D. C. Elphstone, Inc., Baltimore, offered a Huber maintainer and bulldozer for $2,800. The bids were referred to the city officer and health officer. The equipment is to be used at the city dump.

On recommendation of the Board of Health, Dr. William F. McFarland was named assistant city and county health officer on a part time basis at a salary of $2,000 yearly.

Commissioner Myers G. Light said parts of South Centre and Baltimore Streets have been covered by mud falling from trucks hauling dirt from the site of the new Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company building on South Centre. Light said truck owners should be prohibited from dropping dirt on streets in such a manner.

Mrs. Bernetta M. Arrowhead complained that an open sewer runs under her home at 725 North Mechanic Street. She said the house is damp and frame work rots because of the condition. Commissioner Light promised an investigation.

The Cumberland Lions Club was given permission to place a sign across Centre Street, north of Baltimore, to advertise its Christmas tree sale, December 10 to 24. Money raised will be used for a children's party, December 17 at the Central Y. M. C. A.

Harry R. Miller, 705 Maryland Avenue, was ordered refunded $51.32 representing taxes paid twice on eight properties. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company was ordered refunded $150.44 for a tax overpayment, and Gail C. Ash, 324 Columbia Street, was refunded $7.50 for personal property taxes paid twice.

Weight collections last month amounted to $364.38. Balances December 1 were reported as: General, $298,459.89; water operating account, $170,841.87; general improvement bond account, $73,848.22, and sewer bonds of 1931, $1,608.49.

Dick Forfeits $112 On Motor Charges

A former Cresaptown resident, who was arrested Saturday night along with a Clumberland negress, employed at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, yesterday forfeited bonds totaling $112.90 on charges of drunken and reckless driving.

Identified as James Robert Dick, no wof Gray, Pa., the defendant forfeited $101.45 on the drunken driving charge and $11.45 on the reckless driving charge.

He was apprehended Saturday night on Route 40 by Trooper William F. Baker who said he noticed the car weaving. Taken into custody along with Dick, was Connie Hicks, hotel elevator operator. She was held in City Jail until Sunday and then released.

At a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew yesterday, Harry Joseph Haller, 472 Goethe Street, was given a minimum fine of $1 and costs on a reckless driving count.

Cpl. Thomas Veditz testified that he arrested the defendant the night of September 6 in the Narrows after a truck driven by Haller barely missed the state police officer's patrol car. He said Haller was operating the truck without lights.

Haller told the court that he had held a railroad worker's light from the driver's window after his lights had failed, and that he stayed close to the edge of the highway.

Six other forfeitures of bonds by motor law violators were docketed by Trooper G. M. Rotruck.

John M. Robison, Ridgeley, forfeited $6.45 for operating his car without lights. He was apprehended at the corner of Greene and Lee Streets.

A. Timberville, Va., man, Thomas L. Adams, forfeited $11.45, on a charge of displaying tags on his machine which were issued to another vehicle.

Elmer C. Rader, Route 2, Keyser, forfeited $6.45 for failing to come to a halt at a boulevard stop sign on Route 200 Saturday.

Roy Folk, Mt. Savage, forfeited a similar amount for disobeying the boulevard stop sign law at Cresaptown on Saturday.

Arrested Sunday on Route 220 for exceeding 30 miles per hour in a 30 mile zone at Bowling Green, Elmer W. Mountain, Route 1, Artemas, Pa., forfeited $6.45.

Richard H. Rice, Route 2, this city, forfeited $6.45 on the same charge. He was apprehended last Thursday.

Two In Highway Crash

Two local men escaped serious injury Sunday when a car in which they were riding upset on Baltimore Pike. A high shoulder along the road caused the machine to turn over, according to a report.

The men are Percy Zembower and Joseph Carney. The former was able to be at work yesterday but Carney was bruised considerably. The machine was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

West Virginia Conquers Utah Quintet, 68-51

4,600 See Mounties Trim Brigham Young

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 8 (AP) — West Virginia's Mountaineers broke out in a scoring deluge in the second half tonight to run away from Brigham Young University, 68-51, for their second victory of the season before a capacity crowd of 4,000.

The rangy Cougars from Provo, Utah, recovered after a shaky start to take the lead at 9-8. West Virginia went ahead a 13-12, but with five minutes remaining in the first half, the visitors tied it up at 22-all and then pulled out in front 26-23. Two field goals by Fred Schaus in the last 30 seconds put the Mountaineers ahead 29-26 at the intermission.

Brigham Young closed in to 29-28 at the outset of the second half and it was nip and tuck for about six minutes until Leland Byrd and Eddie Beach sparked a drive that put the Mountaineers ahead comfortably at 50-41.

Schaus topped the scoring with 23 points, while Clyde Green tallied 17 and Beach 15. Nelson was high for the losers with 10. Lineups:

Abdominal Injury Puts Cardinal In Hospital

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP) — Tackle Caleb Martin of the Chicago Cardinals was admitted to Altoona Hospital early today, suffering from an abdominal injury, after being removed from a Chicago-bound train.

The Cardinal player received a knee-blow to the lower left abdomen in yesterday's game with the Philadelphia Eagles at Philadelphia, line coach Paul Handler said. Handler is staying in Altoona with Martin until physicians determine the extent of the injury.

Douglas Is Winner In Orlando Tourney

ORLANDO, Fla., Dec. 8—(AP)—His ninth one-putt green for a birdie three on the 19th gave 29-year-old Dave Douglas of Wilmington, Del., a one stroke victory over Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Cal., in a playoff for the third annual Orlando Open golf title today.

Herman Keiser of Akron, O., took third place.

Douglas, Demaret and Keiser finished the 72-hole event over the 6,454 yard Dubsdread Country Culb course yesterday tied with 274's.

Douglas won his title on the green. He never three-putted. When he didn't sink the first putt it was always within easy range. He took only 29 putts on the 19 holes while Demaret needed 34.

Graziano Is Victor On Split Decision

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) — Rocky Graziano won a narrow squeak, split decision today in a poll of state boxing commissioners who were asked whether the world's middleweight champion should be allowed to fight again.

The National Boxing Association said the results show that 40 per cent are for Graziano, while 33.8 per cent are against him.

The rest either didn't vote or said they hadn't made up their minds.

Graziano—whose life outside the ring has been even more turbulent than it has inside it—was barred from boxing in Illinois.

The result of the poll doesn't mean the NBA will take any action for the association has no authority to force any state to use—or not use—Graziano on its fight cards.

Colts Sign Sinkwich

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8—(AP)—The Baltimore Colts started rebuilding for the 1948 All-America Conference football season today by signing Frankie Sinkwich, former Georgia backfield star, for another year.

Sinkwich is the first Colt to sign a new contract.

"Fireball Frankie" has been bothered by a bad knee for the past few years and plans to have another operation on it here after he returns from a visit to his home in Youngstown, O.

196 DEER KILLED IN MINERAL COUNTY; WOMAN BAGS BUCK

KEYSER, W. Va., Dec. 8 — Conservation Officer Claude E. Rice reported that the six-day deer kill in Mineral County last week was 196, or 58 more than the 138 reported in 1946.

A county record was set for the first day of the season when 81 hunters were successful, Rice reported. Deer kills the remaining five days were 47, 30, 11, 14 and 13, he said.

The deer with the largest number of points—15—was killed by Maurice Whipp, Burlington. The deer weighed 171 pounds dressed. The three largest deer killed weighed 200, 191 and 190 pounds, Rice reported.

Only one woman hunter reported any luck during the season in the county. She was Hazel Cunningham, Purgittsville, who shot an eight-point, 160-pound deer.

Brooklyn Trades Walker, Lombardi Gregg To Pirates

Cox, Mauch And Roe Are Sent To Dodgers

By LOU GARAVENTE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (INS) — Chapter thre in the baseball serial, "How To Make a Buc", co-authored by the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates, was completed today in a six-played, no-cash deal anticipated ped outfielder pitcher Hal The Brooks lop-Dixie Walker and Gregg and Vic Lombardi off their championship roster in exchange for southpaw "Preacher" Roe, and infielders Billy Cox and Gene Mauch.

Dixie Walker

This is the third major deal involving these two clubs since mid-June — the first was the $250,000 "Higbe" Deal; the second was the more recent Stan Rojek-Ed Stevens trade to the Buccaneers for $75,000. It may not be the last.

Branch Rickey, the Dodger president, said "another exchange of players" is being considered, and added, "we may have announcement of another deal soon."

The departure of the talented and popular Walker is in line with Rickey's professed "youth movement". Dixie is a brittle 37, and although he always has staged amazing comebacks, the Brooks believe discretion should supersede sentiment in the moulding of a pennant contender.

Vic Lombardi

Dixie came to Brooklyn from Detroit in 1939 and took that baseball - happy town by storm. Spindley - legged weak - throwing, and possessed of unique "punch" Walker was supposed to be through as a major leaguer.

But Dixie came to life, sparked the team to a championship in 1941, won the batting crown in 1944, and last year hit a solid .306 to aid in the Dodgers' pennant drive.

Little Lombardi, the stubby southpaw and one of the major leagues' smallest players, was the "unheadlined" hero of the Dodger second half offensive after July 4. The stylish left-hander had lost nine straight ball games, but finally found himself and wound up the season with a record of 12 won and 11 lost.

Gregg, a strapping right-hander with a blazing fast ball, never reached the heights predicted for him after he won 18 games for Brooklyn in 1945. In practice, Gregg used to dazzle the Dodgers but in a game his stuff invariably was blasted.

Billy Cox

Last season, following a siege of severe pains in his pitching arm, Gregg compiled a weak record of four won and five lost.

Brooklyn's three additions are young, with Roe not quite 30 years old, Cox 28, and Mauch a mere 22. Roe is a tall, gaunt southpaw who is considered "crafty". But last year the teams found him to their liking and pasted him with a very poor four won and 15 lost record.

Cox, a hard-hitting infielder who can play both short and third, is rumored destined for another club. The report is that he will be used as bait in Brooklyn's alleged quest for a first baseman.

Mauch was traded to Pittsburgh by the Dodgers last June, but he spent the better part of last season with the Pirates' Indianapolis farm team in the American Association.

Charley Fusari Defeats Adragna

Sammy Drops Decision In Pittsburgh Fight

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8 (AP) — Charley Fusari, lanky Newark, N. J., welterweight, had the right formula to win a unanimous decision over the infighting Sammy Adragna of Pittsburgh in a 10-round bout before 3,049 fans tonight in the Gardens.

Fusari piled up a wide early lead, boxing beautifully and avoiding Adragna's clutches. The margin stood him well in hand when Sammy came in like a whirlwind and threatened to win the fight in the last three rounds.

In other fights, Al Gualteri, 136, Washington, Pa., won unanimously over Ritchie Callura, 133, Pittsburgh, (6); Art Swiden, 194, Braddock, Pa., knocked out Chris Tabor, Niles, O., (5); and Mimie Adragna, 128, Carnegie, Pa., kayoed Joey Longo, 130, Baltimore (2).

Dave Lichliter Resigns

A Deer With Three Legs

Fred Sington In Atlanta

Uline's Arena To Close

By C. V. BURNS

Dave Lichliter, Salisbury, Pa., native, has turned in his resignation as coach at Boswell (Pa.) High School where he has handled football and basketball teams for about 20 years.

Lichliter started all sports booming at the Pennsy school and he has been highly successful despite the fact that the school has a small student body.

He quit because the school desired to enter a higher classification. Dave felt that the school should remain as a Class "B" competitor.

Boswell has less than 300 pupils and Dave sought to protect his boys and keep them in their own class. Failing, he resigned. Stanley Krupnik is the new coach.

Dave is a product of the classy Salisbury (Pa.) High School teams of the 1920s and also the Salisbury Cardinals, a good independent quint. He played high school and independent basketball on the same team with Charles "Rip" Engle, now grid and cage mentor at Brown University.

John W. "Maryland, My Maryland" Snyder, who wagered that Joe Louis would defeat Jersey Joe Walcott last Friday night at Madison Square Garden says he's having a hard time collecting because those who lost are foolish enough to believe that the New York Boxing Commission will reverse the decision in Walcott's favor.

One of the oddities of the 1947 deer season in Maryland which closed on Saturday is a three-legged buck.

It was felled by Joseph W. Flower of Hancock.

He said the fourth leg apparently was shot off at the knee some previous year.

The Altoona Edwards, who are billed to play the Dukes here Friday night, have been charging $1.80 for reserved seats for their home games and the fans say that's too high for any kind of a basketball game in that area. The general admission charge is $1.20.

Reserved seats for Dukes' home games are $1.20, general admission 90 cents and student tickets 60 cents.

Bob Whip, business manager of the Dukes, may use Jim Kelley, "Red" Bush, Jack Rorick and Gilbert Becker as referees the next time Zanesville plays the Dukes here. It would be nice for Bob to furnish the boxing gloves and treat the fans to a "battle royal."

Whitney Martin, Associated Press sports writer, reports that Fred Sington now operates a sporting goods store at Birmingham, Ala.

Sington is the stoutest man we've ever seen play organized baseball but the fact that he packed about 220 pounds around failed to keep him out of the big leagues. He played with Brooklyn and the Phillies.

Fred first gained fame as tackle at Alabama in 1930 when he made the All-America team.

He popped up in the Middle Atlantic League with Beckley, W. Va., in 1932 and won the batting championship with an average of .368 for 102 games. He belted 29 homers, 12 triples and 30 two-baggers and batted in 110 runs.

And believe it, or not, Sam Rainey, former Potomac Edison catcher, who now drives Blue Ridge buses, was runner-up to Sington that year with a swat mark of .365 for 73 games with the Beckley Black Knights.

The Beckley team of 1932 was probably the hardest hitting team in the history of the M.A. loop with an average of .309 for the season. Frank "Bug" Welch, formerly of the Philadelphia A's managed the club that won first half honors and lost to Charleston in the championship series.

That year, incidentally, was Cumberland's last in organized baseball.

Last week the hunters were chasing deer. This week the taxidermists are chasing the hunters for their heads. Deer heads, that is.

Dr. Clarence Spears, who will be remembered as one of West Virginia University's greatest football coaches and tutor of the Mountaineer's undefeated team of 1922, names Bronko Nagurski as the greatest football player of all-time. "Doc" was Bronko's coach when the latter starred at Minnesota.

"Nagurski had no equal," Spears declares.

Uline's sports area in Washington, D. C., will be closed after May 15, 1948, and the Washington Lions hockey team and Washington Capitols basketball team will be dissolved.

The arena and teams are owned by Miguel J. Uline.

Uline's financial losses are reported to be more than $200,000 in the last six years. He charges "unfair government competition."

His reference to government competition is based upon use of the Washington National Guard Armory for some sports events. Uline said that seven basketball teams which formerly staged home games at his arena now are using the armory. This, he said, meant a loss to him of $1,000 a game.

Uline says he will convert the arena into a cold storage plant.

Walcott Assured Another Crack At Louis Next June

Decision In Title Bout Is Sustained

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—(INS)—The New York State Athletic Commission rejected Jersey Joe Walcott's plea for recognition as heavyweight champion today, but Walcott was immediately assured another crack at the crown when titleholder Joe Louis agreed to fight him again next June in Yankee Stadium.

Eddie Eagan

Louis notified Sol Strauss, acting director of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club, that he will take on the Camden, N. J. challenger again "if satisfactory financial arrangements" can be made.

This announcement came right on the heels of the boxing commission's action in sustaining the disputed split decision won by Louis over Walcott at Madison Square Garden last Friday night. The rematch will be a tremendous attraction due to the furor created by the controversy over the decision.

Eagan Praises Walcott

Chairman Eddie Eagan of the boxing commission praised Walcott for his "splendid performance" against Louis.

In turning down the appeal of Walcott, who attended today's session with his handlers, the commission pointed out that this hearing had been granted because Walcott was from another state, but added:

Joe Louis

"Under the rules, this commission must depend upon the three officials assigned at each bout and, of course, it is obvious if the commission undertook to review the decisions of ring officials, there would be no real certainty of the winner of a contest until after a commission review."

The dispute over the decision centered mainly around the scorecard of Judge Frank Forbes, who gave Louis the 15-round decision by eight rounds to six with one round even, but scored 12 points for Walcott and nine for Louis.

Judge Marty Monroe voted for Louis nine rounds to six and 11 points to 10, while Referee Ruby Goldstein voted for Walcott seven rounds to six with two even and gave Walcott 15 points to 12.

Named Louis Winner

The boxing commission's statement said in part:

"The only question presented by this protest involves the decision of Frank Forbes, one of the judges. It is pointed out that although he gave Louis more rounds on his card, he gave more points to Walcott.

"In his discretion he named Louis the winner. He indicated this on the back of his card. If he had decided for Walcott with a fewer number of rounds, but more points he would have indicated the reason or reasons on the back of the card at that time for such a decision.

"Such reasons would have to indicate that he thought Walcott had inflicted the greater damage, had proven his definite superiority and finished in a better physical condition.

Judge Forbes' decision to the contrary at that time was in his discretion an, yet, together with Martin Monroe continued Joe Louis as heavyweight champion of the world.

458 Bucks Slain In Garrett County

Allegany Total 149; Four Hunters Fined

Four hundred and fifty-eight legal deer were killed in Garrett county during the six-day season ending Saturday, Joseph A. Minke, regional warden, announced yesterday after receiving reports from wardens in that section.

This year's total was 59 less than last year's record kill of 517.

A re-check yesterday showed that Allegany county's kills are now 149 instead of 145 as announced yesterday.

Minke said 148 deer were killed on opening day in Garrett county when there was a tracking snow on the ground.

Four hunters arrested Friday night in Garrett county for "spotlight hunting" were fined $50 and costs each by Magistrate Norval Speelman at Friendsville on Saturday. The men apprehended by Game Wardens Theodore Thoerig, Francis Ruge and Gordon Saunders were Mark Saltzer, of McHenry, and Brook Bennett Garcie, Clarence Stunkard and John W. Wheeler, of Baltimore.

Bears Are Favored In Game With Cards

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (INS)—Chicago betting men tonight posted the big bad Bears six and one-half point favorites to subdue the frenetic Cardinals when the two meet to settle the National Football League's western division title in unprecedented gridiron civil war next Sunday.

Sunday's unique crosstown scuffle has caused a ticket jam unparalleled in Chicago's professional football history.

The forthcoming division title game, in a phrase, has Chicago by the ears. For reasons more folksy than scientific, the ball game was sold out seven weeks ago. Now, today, with things squarely at stake, requests have trebled and humble pleas emerge from those who are willing to don a uniform and play right guard just to get into Wrigley Field.

Walcott Will Get Consolation Award

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—N. K. Perlow, managing editor of the Police Gazette, said today a $2,500 silver and jewel studded belt would be given Jersey Joe Walcott "as world heavyweight boxing champion" within 10 days.

Walcott was defeated by Joe Louis, holder of the title since 1937, in Madison Square Garden Friday night although Referee Ruby Goldstein and many boxing writers scored the Camden, N. J., challenger as the winner. The bout's two judges voted for Louis.

The belt will be a duplicate of the ones given John L. Sullivan, James J. Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons and Jess Willard. Perlow said the awards were halted after Willard won the title but were being re-instituted now.

South Benders Cop Honor 2nd Straight Year

Receive 107 Of 146 First Place Ballots

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—Notre Dame—unbeaten, untied and virtually unchallenged—was selected as the outstanding college football team of 1947 today, winning the honor for the second straight year in the final poll conducted by the Associated Press.

Coach Frank Leahy's Fighting Irish put the finishing touches to their first perfect season since 1930 by crushing Southern California, 38-7, Saturday and left little doubt of their superiority in the minds of a cross section of sports writers from coast to coast.

107 Of 146 Favor Irish

Among the 146 experts who participated in the last poll of the year, 107 of them placed Notre Dame at the head of the list while 25 handed first place to Michigan's all-victorious Big Nine Champions and four split their ballots to call it a tie between the two midwestern powers.

As could be expected, however, Michigan polled 94 second-place votes against 32 for the Irish and received enough additional backing to finish only 121 points behind Notre Dame in the final tabulation.

On the usual basis of ten points for a first-place vote, nine for second, and so on, the South Benders wound up with a total of 1,410 points while the Rose Bowl-bound Wolverines accumulated 1,289.

The poll was extended a week beyond its usual deadline this year in order to include Saturday's important struggle between the Irish and the Trojans, who were third in the rankings a week ago.

By manhandling the Pacific Coast Champions, Notre Dame not only solidified its own position at the head of the list but contributed to a rearrangement of the standings all the way from third place to the bottom among the top ten teams.

Trojans Skid To Eighth

Southern California skidded from third to eighth place, enabling Southern Methodist, Penn State, Texas and Alabama to move up a notch in that order.

Seven of the remaining ten first-place votes were awarded to North Carolina while the other three divided among Penn State, Alabama and Oklahoma.

The final standings (based on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 system of scoring with season won-lost-tied records in parentheses):

Abdominal Injury Puts Cardinal In Hospital

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP) — Tackle Caleb Martin of the Chicago Cardinals was admitted to Altoona hospital early today, suffering from an abdominal injury, after being removed from a Chicago-bound train.

The Cardinal player received a knee-blow to the lower left abdomen in yesterday's game with the Philadelphia Eagles at Philadelphia, line coach Paul Handler said. Handler is staying in Altoona with Martin until physicians determine the extent of the injury.

Douglas Is Winner In Orlando Tourney

ORLANDO, Fla., Dec. 8—(AP)—His ninth one-putt green for a birdie three on the 19th gave 29-year-old Dave Douglas of Wilmington, Del., a one stroke victory over Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Cal., in a playoff for the third annual Orlando Open golf title today.

Herman Keiser of Akron, O., took third place.

Douglas, Demaret and Keiser finished the 72-hole event over the 6,454 yard Dubsdread Country Culb course yesterday tied with 274's.

Douglas won his title on the green. He never three-putted. When he didn't sink the first putt it was always within easy range. He took only 29 putts on the 19 holes while Demaret needed 34.

Graziano Is Victor On Split Decision

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) — Rocky Graziano won a narrow squeak, split decision today in a poll of state boxing commissioners who were asked whether the world's middleweight champion should be allowed to fight again.

The National Boxing Association said the results show that 40 per cent are for Graziano, while 33.8 per cent are against him.

The rest either didn't vote or said they hadn't made up their minds.

Graziano—whose life outside the ring has been even more turbulent than it has inside it—was barred from boxing in Illinois.

The result of the poll doesn't mean the NBA will take any action for the association has no authority to force any state to use—or not use—Graziano on its fight cards.

Colts Sign Sinkwich

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8—(AP)—The Baltimore Colts started rebuilding for the 1948 All-America Conference football season today by signing Frankie Sinkwich, former Georgia backfield star, for another year.

196 DEER KILLED IN MINERAL COUNTY; WOMAN BAGS BUCK

KEYSER, W. Va., Dec. 8 — Conservation Officer Claude E. Rice reported that the six-day deer kill in Mineral County last week was 196, or 58 more than the 138 reported in 1946.

A county record was set for the first day of the season when 81 hunters were successful, Rice reported. Deer kills the remaining five days were 47, 30, 11, 14 and 13, he said.

The deer with the largest number of points—15—was killed by Maurice Whipp, Burlington. The deer weighed 171 pounds dressed. The three largest deer killed weighed 200, 191 and 190 pounds, Rice reported.

Only one woman hunter reported any luck during the season in the county. She was Hazel Cunningham, Purgittsville, who shot an eight-point, 160-pound deer.

Brooklyn Trades Walker, Lombardi Gregg To Pirates

Cox, Mauch And Roe Are Sent To Dodgers

By LOU GARAVENTE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (INS) — Chapter thre in the baseball serial, "How To Make a Buc", co-authored by the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates, was completed today in a six-played, no-cash deal anticipated ped outfielder pitcher Hal

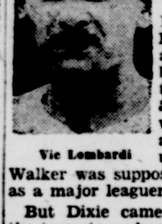
Dixie Walker

The Brooks lop-Dixie Walker and Gregg and Vic Lombardi off their championship roster in exchange for southpaw "Preacher" Roe, and infielders Billy Cox and Gene Mauch.

This is the third major deal involving these two clubs since mid-June — the first was the $250,000 "Higbe" Deal; the second was the more recent Stan Rojek-Ed Stevens trade to the Buccaneers for $75,000. It may not be the last.

Branch Rickey, the Dodger president, said "another exchange of players" is being considered, and added, "we may have announcement of another deal soon."

The departure of the talented and popular Walker is in line with Rickey's professed "youth movement". Dixie is a brittle 37, and although he always has staged amazing comebacks, the Brooks believe discretion should supersede sentiment in the moulding of a pennant contender.



Vic Lombardi

Dixie came to Brooklyn from Detroit in 1939 and took that baseball - happy town by storm. Spindley - legged weak - throwing, and possessed of unique "punch" Walker was supposed to be through as a major leaguer.

But Dixie came to life, sparked the team to a championship in 1941, won the batting crown in 1944, and last year hit a solid .306 to aid in the Dodgers' pennant drive.

Little Lombardi, the stubby southpaw and one of the major leagues' smallest players, was the "unheadlined" hero of the Dodger second half offensive after July 4. The stylish left-hander had lost nine straight ball games, but finally found himself and wound up the season with a record of 12 won and 11 lost.

Gregg, a strapping right-hander with a blazing fast ball, never reached the heights predicted for him after he won 18 games for Brooklyn in 1945. In practice, Gregg used to dazzle the Dodgers but in a game his stuff invariably was blasted.

Billy Cox

Last season, following a siege of severe pains in his pitching arm, Gregg compiled a weak record of four won and five lost.

Brooklyn's three additions are young, with Roe not quite 30 years old, Cox 28, and Mauch a mere 22. Roe is a tall, gaunt southpaw who is considered "crafty". But last year the teams found him to their liking and pasted him with a very poor four won and 15 lost record.

Cox, a hard-hitting infielder who can play both short and third, is rumored destined for another club. The report is that he will be used as bait in Brooklyn's alleged quest for a first baseman.

Mauch was traded to Pittsburgh by the Dodgers last June, but he spent the better part of last season with the Pirates' Indianapolis farm team in the American Association.

Dave Lichliter Resigns

A Deer With Three Legs

Fred Sington In Atlanta

Uline's Arena To Close

By C. V. BURNS

Dave Lichliter, Salisbury, Pa., native, has turned in his resignation as coach at Boswell (Pa.) High School where he has handled football and basketball teams for about 20 years.

Lichliter started all sports booming at the Pennsy school and he has been highly successful despite the fact that the school has a small student body.

He quit because the school desired to enter a higher classification. Dave felt that the school should remain as a Class "B" competitor.

Boswell has less than 300 pupils and Dave sought to protect his boys and keep them in their own class. Failing, he resigned. Stanley Krupnik is the new coach.

Dave is a product of the classy Salisbury (Pa.) High School teams of the 1920s and also the Salisbury Cardinals, a good independent quint. He played high school and independent basketball on the same team with Charles "Rip" Engle, now grid and cage mentor at Brown University.

John W. "Maryland, My Maryland" Snyder, who wagered that Joe Louis would defeat Jersey Joe Walcott last Friday night at Madison Square Garden says he's having a hard time collecting because those who lost are foolish enough to believe that the New York Boxing Commission will reverse the decision in Walcott's favor.

One of the oddities of the 1947 deer season in Maryland which closed on Saturday is a three-legged buck.

It was felled by Joseph W. Flower of Hancock.

He said the fourth leg apparently was shot off at the knee some previous year.

The Altoona Edwards, who are billed to play the Dukes here Friday night, have been charging $1.80 for reserved seats for their home games and the fans say that's too high for any kind of a basketball game in that area. The general admission charge is $1.20.

Reserved seats for Dukes' home games are $1.20, general admission 90 cents and student tickets 60 cents.

Bob Whip, business manager of the Dukes, may use Jim Kelley, "Red" Bush, Jack Rorick and Gilbert Becker as referees the next time Zanesville plays the Dukes here. It would be nice for Bob to furnish the boxing gloves and treat the fans to a "battle royal."

Whitney Martin, Associated Press sports writer, reports that Fred Sington now operates a sporting goods store at Birmingham, Ala.

Sington is the stoutest man we've ever seen play organized baseball but the fact that he packed about 220 pounds around failed to keep him out of the big leagues. He played with Brooklyn and the Phillies.

Fred first gained fame as tackle at Alabama in 1930 when he made the All-America team.

He popped up in the Middle Atlantic League with Beckley, W. Va., in 1932 and won the batting championship with an average of .368 for 102 games. He belted 29 homers, 12 triples and 30 two-baggers and batted in 110 runs.

And believe it, or not, Sam Rainey, former Potomac Edison catcher, who now drives Blue Ridge buses, was runner-up to Sington that year with a swat mark of .365 for 73 games with the Beckley Black Knights.

The Beckley team of 1932 was probably the hardest hitting team in the history of the M.A. loop with an average of .309 for the season. Frank "Bug" Welch, formerly of the Philadelphia A's managed the club that won first half honors and lost to Charleston in the championship series.

That year, incidentally, was Cumberland's last in organized baseball.

Last week the hunters were chasing deer. This week the taxidermists are chasing the hunters for their heads. Deer heads, that is.

Dr. Clarence Spears, who will be remembered as one of West Virginia University's greatest football coaches and tutor of the Mountaineer's undefeated team of 1922, names Bronko Nagurski as the greatest football player of all-time. "Doc" was Bronko's coach when the latter starred at Minnesota.

"Nagurski had no equal," Spears declares.

Uline's sports area in Washington, D. C., will be closed after May 15, 1948, and the Washington Lions hockey team and Washington Capitols basketball team will be dissolved.

The arena and teams are owned by Miguel J. Uline.

Uline's financial losses are reported to be more than $200,000 in the last six years. He charges "unfair government competition."

His reference to government competition is based upon use of the Washington National Guard Armory for some sports events. Uline said that seven basketball teams which formerly staged home games at his arena now are using the armory. This, he said, meant a loss to him of $1,000 a game.

Uline says he will convert the arena into a cold storage plant.

Walcott Assured Another Crack At Louis Next June

Decision In Title Bout Is Sustained

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—(INS)—The New York State Athletic Commission rejected Jersey Joe Walcott's plea for recognition as heavyweight champion today, but Walcott was immediately assured another crack at the crown when titleholder Joe Louis agreed to fight him again next June in Yankee Stadium.

Eddie Eagan

Louis notified Sol Strauss, acting director of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club, that he will take on the Camden, N. J. challenger again "if satisfactory financial arrangements" can be made.

This announcement came right on the heels of the boxing commission's action in sustaining the disputed split decision won by Louis over Walcott at Madison Square Garden last Friday night. The rematch will be a tremendous attraction due to the furor created by the controversy over the decision.

Eagan Praises Walcott

Chairman Eddie Eagan of the boxing commission praised Walcott for his "splendid performance" against Louis.

In turning down the appeal of Walcott, who attended today's session with his handlers, the commission pointed out that this hearing had been granted because Walcott was from another state, but added:

Joe Louis

"Under the rules, this commission must depend upon the three officials assigned at each bout and, of course, it is obvious if the commission undertook to review the decisions of ring officials, there would be no certainty of the winner of a contest until after a commission review."

The dispute over the decision centered mainly around the scorecard of Judge Frank Forbes, who gave Louis the 15-round decision by eight rounds to six with one round even, but scored 12 points for Walcott and nine for Louis.

Judge Marty Monroe voted for Louis nine rounds to six and 11 points to 10, while Referee Ruby Goldstein voted for Walcott seven rounds to six with two even and gave Walcott 15 points to 12.

Named Louis Winner

The boxing commission's statement said in part:

"The only question presented by this protest involves the decision of Frank Forbes, one of the judges. It is pointed out that although he gave Louis more rounds on his card, he gave more points to Walcott.

"In his discretion he named Louis the winner. He indicated this on the back of his card. If he had decided for Walcott with a fewer number of rounds, but more points he would have indicated the reason or reasons on the back of the card at that time for such a decision.

Joe Walcott

"Such reasons would have to indicate that he thought Walcott had inflicted the greater damage, had proven his definite superiority and finished in a better physical condition.

Judge Forbes' decision to the contrary at that time was in his discretion an, yet, together with Martin Monroe continued Joe Louis as heavyweight champion of the world.

"This commission has no desire to interfere with the exercise of the discretion and judgment of competent appointed officials."

Gus Lesnevich Wins Edward Neil Plaque

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP) — Gus Lesnevich, world's light heavyweight champion, today was voted the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque for 1947 by the New York Boxing Writers' Association.

The award, made annually by the writers to the man who in their opinion has done the most for boxing during the year, was voted to Lesnevich unanimously.

The Cliffside Park, N. J., fighter, who will be 33 next Feb. 22, engaged in four battles during the year and was victorious in each.

Minelli Lands Bout

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8—(AP)—Livio Minelli, Italian welterweight who recently upset former lightweight champion Bob Montgomery has been signed for a 10-round bout with Bee Bee Wright, of Harrisburg, Pa., at convention hall Jan. 5, Promoter Herman Taylor's office announced today.

Last season the Amvets (now the Dukes) lost to the Cliftons at Uline's arena. The Cliftons were defeated in the return game here.

His many friends do hope that "Skeets" Starkey's arm will be in shape so he can pitch in next Monday's show at the armory!

MAXWELL CLUB VOTES DOAK WALKER OF SMU NO. 1 PLAYER OF YEAR

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8 (AP)—Doak Walker, Southern Methodist back who was picked on the 1947 All-America, was named the No. 1 college football player of the year by the Maxwell Memorial Football Club, President Bert Bell announced today.

The club, which is made up of Philadelphia area sportsmen, also picked Chuck Bednarik, Penn's All-America center, as the outstanding linemen of the year.

The awards will be made at the club's annual dinner here, Jan. 13.

Allegany Total 149; Four Hunters Fined

Four hundred and fifty-eight legal deer were killed in Garrett county during the six-day season ending Saturday, Joseph A. Minke, regional warden, announced yesterday after receiving reports from wardens in that section.

This year's total was 59 less than last year's record kill of 517.

A re-check yesterday showed that Allegany county's kills are now 149 instead of 145 as announced yesterday.

Minke said 148 deer were killed on opening day in Garrett county when there was a tracking snow on the ground.

Four hunters arrested Friday night in Garrett county for "spotlight hunting" were fined $50 and costs each by Magistrate Norval Speelman at Friendsville on Saturday. The men apprehended by Game Wardens Theodore Thoerig, Francis Ruge and Gordon Saunders were Mark Saltzer, of McHenry, and Brook Bennett Garcie, Clarence Stunkard and John W. Wheeler, of Baltimore.

Bears Are Favored In Game With Cards

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (INS)—Chicago betting men tonight posted the big bad Bears six and one-half point favorites to subdue the frenetic Cardinals when the two meet to settle the National Football League's western division title in unprecedented gridiron civil war next Sunday.

Sunday's unique crosstown scuffle has caused a ticket jam unparalleled in Chicago's professional football history.

The forthcoming division title game, in a phrase, has Chicago by the ears. For reasons more folksy than scientific, the ball game was sold out seven weeks ago. Now, today, with things squarely at stake, requests have trebled and humble pleas emerge from those who are willing to don a uniform and play right guard just to get into Wrigley Field.

Walcott Will Get Consolation Award

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—N. K. Perlow, managing editor of the Police Gazette, said today a $2,500 silver and jewel studded belt would be given Jersey Joe Walcott "as world heavyweight boxing champion" within 10 days.

Walcott was defeated by Joe Louis, holder of the title since 1937, in Madison Square Garden Friday night although Referee Ruby Goldstein and many boxing writers scored the Camden, N. J., challenger as the winner. The bout's two judges voted for Louis.

The belt will be a duplicate of the ones given John L. Sullivan, James J. Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons and Jess Willard. Perlow said the awards were halted after Willard won the title but were being re-instituted now.

South Benders Cop Honor 2nd Straight Year

Receive 107 Of 146 First Place Ballots

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—Notre Dame—unbeaten, untied and virtually unchallenged—was selected as the outstanding college football team of 1947 today, winning the honor for the second straight year in the final poll conducted by the Associated Press.

Coach Frank Leahy's Fighting Irish put the finishing touches to their first perfect season since 1930 by crushing Southern California, 38-7, Saturday and left little doubt of their superiority in the minds of a cross section of sports writers from coast to coast.

107 Of 146 Favor Irish

Among the 146 experts who participated in the last poll of the year, 107 of them placed Notre Dame at the head of the list while 25 handed first place to Michigan's all-victorious Big Nine Champions and four split their ballots to call it a tie between the two midwestern powers.

As could be expected, however, Michigan polled 94 second-place votes against 32 for the Irish and received enough additional backing to finish only 121 points behind Notre Dame in the final tabulation.

On the usual basis of ten points for a first-place vote, nine for second, and so on, the South Benders wound up with a total of 1,410 points while the Rose Bowl-bound Wolverines accumulated 1,289.

The poll was extended a week beyond its usual deadline this year in order to include Saturday's important struggle between the Irish and the Trojans, who were third in the rankings a week ago.

By manhandling the Pacific Coast Champions, Notre Dame not only solidified its own position at the head of the list but contributed to a rearrangement of the standings all the way from third place to the bottom among the top ten teams.

Trojans Skid To Eighth

Southern California skidded from third to eighth place, enabling Southern Methodist, Penn State, Texas and Alabama to move up a notch in that order.

Seven of the remaining ten first-place votes were awarded to North Carolina while the other three divided among Penn State, Alabama and Oklahoma.

The final standings (based on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 system of scoring with season won-lost-tied records in parentheses):

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8 (INS)—I'm quite sure the line will form to the right for Lilli Palmer after "Tisa" is shown.

Ida Lupino

Already Rouben Mamoulian is making a deal to borrow her from Milton Sperling for "Bright Destination." It's a story with a circus background in which Lilli plays a trapeze artist. She will have as her co-star Fred MacMurray—who is a big box office attraction.

I heard that Lilli said in London that she didn't care to come back to Hollywood but this was promptly denied by friends, who said that she was not happy in England and was yearning to return to California.

Eleanor Parker has notified Warners that as much as she would like to have the role in "John Loves Mary," her doctor won't permit it. She expects a baby in the spring and doesn't think she should work now.

Ronald Reagan and Eleanor were to be co-starred. They were together in "Voice of the Turtle." I haven't seen the picture yet but I hear it's excellent in spite of the talk that war romance might be dated. There is no such thing as a dated play or movie if it's good. "Command Decision," a smash Broadway hit is a war play.

Gus Edwards' widow is trying to buy back the rights to her husband's life story from Paramount. You may have recognized some of the Edwards material in "The Starmaker" with Bing Crosby. Mrs. Edwards believes the parts they left out were better than those that were used.

I happen to know several studios are interested in the full story of Gus' life and some of his best songs, "Sunbonnet Sue," "Merry Oldsmobile" which are being played over and over again these days.

There's plenty of drama, humor and nostalgia in the story of the kind-hearted showman, who discovered George Jessel, Eddie Cantor, Walter Winchell and Lila Lee.

I had lunch with Rita Hayworth in her dressing room at Columbia, and she told me that none of the music from Bizet's opera is being used in her picture, "Loves of Carmen." Instead haunting gypsy melodies will be played.

Chatter in Hollywood:—

Diana Lynn definitely will not marry Bob Neal. One reason is that she has been accepted as a student at the Paris Conservatory of music and will go there next summer to study.

Sweden is baiting Hollywood companies to come there to make films as England, France and Italy have done.

Ken Englund, one of our top script writers, has already signed a contract to go to Stockholm late in 1948 to write an English version of Swedens' favorite story, the love between Jenny Lind and Hans Christian Anderson.

A special showing of "For You I Die" will be held in Paris, Texas, the home town of Jane Weeks.

Jane, who plays the heavy, did a swell job.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:—

Those who believed the Mark Stevens were on the verge again can relax. Mark is taking Annelle with him to New York and Washington when he leaves in 10 days.

Bob Walker has a new romance—a home town girl from Ogden, Utah, named Colleen Townsend.

Keenan Wynn back from New York and all made up with his studio.

The only member of the board of judges of the French Book Of the Month Club in New York, who isn't a professor, is our own Charles Boyer.

Mrs. Richard Conti is so depressed over losing her expected baby that Richard thinks it's a good idea for her to resume her acting career. So she accepted a stage play, "The Stone Jungle," at the Coronet Theater.

Was that attractive Ann Jeffreys with Bruce Cabot at the Tallyho?

Exhibitors all over the nation are asking for "Miracle On 34th Street" for a Christmas run. It should be an annual event just like "A Christmas Carol."

Horace Schmidlapp sails for England to spend Christmas with Carole Landis. Tony Martin's new romance is Evelyn Knight, the singer. Marty Martin, Laraine Day's agent, has separated from his wife, a former Earl Carroll girl, and they will tell their troubles to a judge.

Sidney Kingsley has been dashing around New York in police squad cars, because he's collecting material for a novel.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8 (INS)—I'm quite sure the line will form to the right for Lilli Palmer after "Tisa" is shown.

Already Rouben Mamoulian is making a deal to borrow her from Milton Sperling for "Bright Destination." It's a story with a circus background in which Lilli plays a trapeze artist. She will have as her co-star Fred MacMurray—who is a big box office attraction.

Ida Lupino

I heard that Lilli said in London that she didn't care to come back to Hollywood but this was promptly denied by friends, who said that she was not happy in England and was yearning to return to California.

Eleanor Parker has notified Warners that as much as she would like to have the role in "John Loves Mary," her doctor won't permit it. She expects a baby in the spring and doesn't think she should work now.

Ronald Reagan and Eleanor were to be co-starred. They were together in "Voice of the Turtle." I haven't seen the picture yet but I hear it's excellent in spite of the talk that war romance might be dated. There is no such thing as a dated play or movie if it's good. "Command Decision," a smash Broadway hit is a war play.

Gus Edwards' widow is trying to buy back the rights to her husband's life story from Paramount. You may have recognized some of the Edwards material in "The Starmaker" with Bing Crosby. Mrs. Edwards believes the parts they left out were better than those that were used.

I happen to know several studios are interested in the full story of Gus' life and some of his best songs, "Sunbonnet Sue," "Merry Oldsmobile" which are being played over and over again these days.

There's plenty of drama, humor and nostalgia in the story of the kind-hearted showman, who discovered George Jessel, Eddie Cantor, Walter Winchell and Lila Lee.

I had lunch with Rita Hayworth in her dressing room at Columbia, and she told me that none of the music from Bizet's opera is being used in her picture, "Loves of Carmen." Instead haunting gypsy melodies will be played.

Chatter in Hollywood:—

Diana Lynn definitely will not marry Bob Neal. One reason is that she has been accepted as a student at the Paris Conservatory of music and will go there next summer to study.

Sweden is baiting Hollywood companies to come there to make films as England, France and Italy have done.

Ken Englund, one of our top script writers, has already signed a contract to go to Stockholm late in 1948 to write an English version of Swedens' favorite story, the love between Jenny Lind and Hans Christian Anderson.

A special showing of "For You I Die" will be held in Paris, Texas, the home town of Jane Weeks.

Jane, who plays the heavy, did a swell job.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:—

Those who believed the Mark Stevens were on the verge again can relax. Mark is taking Annelle with him to New York and Washington when he leaves in 10 days.

Bob Walker has a new romance—a home town girl from Ogden, Utah, named Colleen Townsend.

Keenan Wynn back from New York and all made up with his studio.

The only member of the board of judges of the French Book Of the Month Club in New York, who isn't a professor, is our own Charles Boyer.

Mrs. Richard Conti is so depressed over losing her expected baby that Richard thinks it's a good idea for her to resume her acting career. So she accepted a stage play, "The Stone Jungle," at the Coronet Theater.

Was that attractive Ann Jeffreys with Bruce Cabot at the Tallyho?

Ida Lupino ordered her wedding dress at Adrian's, and it won't have the "new look." Ida says Collier Young thinks her legs are pretty and doesn't want her to cover them up.

Exhibitors all over the nation are asking for "Miracle On 34th Street" for a Christmas run. It should be an annual event just like "A Christmas Carol."

Horace Schmidlapp sails for England to spend Christmas with Carole Landis. Tony Martin's new romance is Evelyn Knight, the singer. Marty Martin, Laraine Day's agent, has separated from his wife, a former Earl Carroll girl, and they will tell their troubles to a judge.

Sidney Kingsley has been dashing around New York in police squad cars, because he's collecting material for a novel.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Red Cross Group Seeks Funds For Yule Food, Toys

Frostburg Branch Plans Baskets

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Red Cross needs toys or cash with which to buy toys and Christmas candy to be included in baskets being prepared for local needy families, according to Mrs. J. C. Cobey, branch chairman.

No appeal for clothing is being made at this time, as the chapter has a sufficient supply. Items most desired are either new or used toys, hard candies, mixed nuts and similar items.

Contributions will be received by any member of the committee. Gifts of cash made immediately will enable shopping, and it is expected that merchants will co-operate with the Red Cross by selling articles for the Christmas baskets at a discount, Mrs. Cobey said.

The committee in charge of receiving cash donations and other gifts consists of Mrs. Cobey, chairman; Mrs. E. J. Ryan, Mrs. Julius Abramson, Mrs. Walter Jefferies; Mrs. Amer Suter, Mrs. Kathleen Todd, Mrs. George Hale and Mrs. Ada Dillon.

Local service clubs and fraternal groups wishing to aid in the project are asked to mail their checks this week if possible.

Equipment Received

Capt. Reeves of Company D, 115th Infantry, asks that all county men interested in joining the National Guard visit the armory in St. Michael's Hall, First Street, tonight for an interview and to witness the regular practice. Men of good character and health between the ages of 17 and 35 are eligible. Uniforms and heavy equipment were received during the past week and will be issued to the men tonight.

Three new members joined the company last week. They are Raymond Kenney, Bernard Kenney and Richard Festerman, all of Frostburg. Lt. Lonnie Kyle, battalion supply officer, issued pre-Pearl Harbor and American Defense Medals to qualified members.

Capt. Reeves said the first pay day for the company will probably be December 16.

The drill practice tonight will consist of close order drill and military courtesy.

Dairies And Union To Discuss Contract

Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, will resume negotiations for a new contract with five Cumberland area dairies at a meeting to be held Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the Fort Cumberland Hotel, Jack F. Moore, union president, said.

Moore reported the first meeting on a contract with the firms last night failed to bring about an agreement on any of the points at issue, but added he hoped a contract agreement could be reached without the aid of a federal conciliator and before the present agreement expires the last of this month.

The union said the talks were opened with a request for a 40 hour work week for inside workers or a substantial wage increase for all; improvements in the vacation clause, a sick leave clause and the check off of union dues.

MORE CONTRACTORS BUY LICENSES

Nineteen contractors of Allegany County have paid a total of $1,402 in fees and penalties for state licenses to do business, according to records yesterday at the office of the clerk of court here.

Under a state law, which has not been enforced for several years, contractors are required to pay $15 per year for a license to do business. A few weeks ago, a Baltimore city councilman called attention to the measure and the state comptroller's office has ordered enforcement.

Any contractor, regardless of the nature of construction or repair who does a gross business of more than $5,000 per year, must be licensed, attaches at the Court House explain. Penalties, in addition to license fees are being collected for four years.

Following the clean-up on these delinquent licenses, it is expecteu a drive will be made to check delinquents in other fields of licensing, especially retail traders' permits.

This check-up will include the amount of license involved, together with a check against the amount of stock carried and that claimed when license is paid for. Penalties will be charged those delinquent, or those who have declared an amount of inventory less than that actually carried, investigators say.

MORE CONTRACTORS BUY LICENSES

Nineteen contractors of Allegany County have paid a total of $1,402 in fees and penalties for state licenses to do business, according to records yesterday at the office of the clerk of court here.

Under a state law, which has not been enforced for several years, contractors are required to pay $15 per year for a license to do business. A few weeks ago, a Baltimore city councilman called attention to the measure and the state comptroller's office has ordered enforcement.

Any contractor, regardless of the nature of construction or repair who does a gross business of more than $5,000 per year, must be licensed, attaches at the Court House explain. Penalties, in addition to license fees are being collected for four years.

Following the clean-up on these delinquent licenses, it is expecteu a drive will be made to check delinquents in other fields of licensing, especially retail traders' permits.

This check-up will include the amount of license involved, together with a check against the amount of stock carried and that claimed when license is paid for. Penalties will be charged those delinquent, or those who have declared an amount of inventory less than that actually carried, investigators say.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Groucho Marx Problem

Something certainly ought to be done about Groucho Marx, one of the great men in this century, but the quiz program in which he is now entangled isn't it. In fact, all of Groucho's recent enterprises have been somewhat unhappy. He returned to active duty in the movies not long ago in something called "Copacabana." The critics took a dim view of this venture. Then he reappeared on the air on this quiz show, which is called "You Bet Your Life," and the radio critics—an ill fed, ill-housed, ill-clothed group who are not accepted socially in the higher echelons of criticism—again expressed disdain. (At least those who can spell it expressed disdain. The others had to be content with more modest ejaculations of disapproval.)

Groucho Marx

"You Bet Your Life" has many of the old wrinkles of quiz shows—people from Brooklyn who know everything, people from Brooklyn who don't know anything, off-stage voices telling you things the contestants don't know, secret words and, of course, lots and lots of cash. However, there is one new wrinkle. The gamble on this program. Heaven knows what the church groups or the societies for the suppression of all enjoyable activities are going to say when they get wind of this lamentable undertaking, but that's what they do. They bet money. It must be, the way I figure it, somehow unlawful. It sounds too pleasant to be quite legal.

A contestant is endowed with thirty clams, any part of which he bet that he knows the answer to the question Groucho is about to ask him. The odds in this gambling hall run from even money to 3 to 1, and there are four questions, any one of which could be answered by Clifton Finnegan in his sleep.

This part of the program, I guess, is designed shamefully to arouse the kibitzer that lurks in all of us, and in my case it succeeded in an unexpected way. I was just exasperated by the timidity of these amateurs, and I imagine all the real gamblers were completely alienated. If my arithmetic is in any sort of condition, a bettor could run his thirty fish into 1,440 slugs, provided he plunged his whole wad all along the line. The best anyone did the other night was slightly over 200 bucks. What a bunch of tinhorns!

Groucho is obviously on the wrong end of the betting table here. During his whole career in show business he has earnestly attempted to relieve suckers of the tedium of carrying too much money around. Here he is passing the stuff out in handfuls to the same sort of people he once took it away from. He does sit gracefully, but his heart clearly isn't in it. If I had anything to do with this program, things would be changed around completely. The contestants would have to bring their own dough and Marx would see how much he could get away from them by hook or by crook, preferably the latter.

This would be the revolution in quiz programs that everyone has been seeking since "Information, Please" started all the quiz nonsense. After all, if ten or twenty million radio listeners can get aroused about Mrs. Sadie Glotz winning a four-motored bomber, think, how much more excited they'd get if she lost something equally valuable—her life savings, her home, her husband's business, her husband. This program would have all the excitement of a quiz contest with the agony of soap opera.

Well, let's get back to "You Bet Your Life." Groucho, an expert at insult, is seriously inhibited by the necessity of being polite to the amateurs, though once in a while he applies a touch of acid where it's most needed. To one precocious urchin, who, I'm sure, he loathed, he remarked: "You're ten years old, eh? Have you always been ten years old?"

I also rather liked the passage of arms between Groucho on a young man who was explaining how he met his wife.

"You see, I drive a truck," said this young man.

"You ran over her?" inquired Groucho.

"No. No, you see, she works in a restaurant."

"I don't understand this. You drove the truck into the restaurant?"

Here the young man started all over again and explained that he was driving his truck out to the country to pick up some turkeys at a farm. "The farmer told me I'd find some turkeys out in the barn."

"And your wife was among them?" asked Groucho.

This is not at all characteristic of most of the program, which on the whole is not at all a satisfactory answer to the problem of what to do with Groucho Marx. I regret to hear that on December 25 "You Bet Your Life" will replace the Jack Paar show on A. B. C., 9:30 p. m., Wednesdays, which means that a routine quiz is taking the place of one of the brightest and wittiest new voices to be heard on the air for some time.

Two Senators To Debate Prices On Network Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—Two senators of opposing political parties are to debate prices via the radio Tuesday night. They will be Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, the question to be "Can the present administration reduce prices?"

The program in which they appear is Theodoe Granik's American Forum on the MBS station list. Time is 10.

The other forum period, America's Town Meeting on ABC at 8:30, will originate entirely from New York when this query will be put to a panel of four: "How can we combat anti - American propaganda in Europe?"

Participants are Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Mass., Rep. Francis Case of South Dak., Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan and the Rev. Wm. Howard Melish of Brooklyn.

That hour long Tuesday night drama which CBS presents under the general listing of Studio One at 9:30 is coming out with Gene Kelly. He's going "To Mary, with Love," or at least that is the title of production which will be radio unfolded. This program is now presenting "name" guests in place of the former plan whereby radio actors were used.

The Boston symphony orchestra will broadcast from the home of the Detroit symphony when it appears on the ABC list in its usual 9:30 o'clock spot.

James Mason and his wife, who is Pamela Kellino, are on the billing for We the People of CBS at 9.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, Rev. Keesecker and the choir of Kingsley Methodist Church, and those who loaned cars for the funeral.
MRS. RAYMOND TRUE and FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Lucinda Forbeck, who departed this life ten years ago today, December 9, 1937.

For those who have a Mother,
Tender her with care,
For you never know her value
Until you see her vacant chair.

Sadly missed by her loving daughters, HAZEL, MILDRED and VIOLET.

Market Revives; Technical Factors Inspire Buying Of Industrials, Rails

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—The stock market sat up and took nourishment today as technical factors inspired quick-turn buying of selected industrials and rails.

Short coverings and other bidding by professionals, based on the thought that the recent decline to average lows since last June entitled the list to at least a temporary revival, received the principal credit for the comeback. Skepticism regarding anti-inflation moves and foreign affairs still kept numerous customers on the sidelines. Tax selling again was a deterrent. Little response was made to another string of good dividends. A few oils did better but the majority of stocks in this group failed to exhibit much enthusiasm over climbing prices for petroleum products.

A fair amount of activity was maintained from the start. Quick subscription of a special 23,000-share offering of Remington Rand was helpful to sentiment and volume. Gains of fractions to a point or more—there was a handful of wider jumpers—predominated at the close. Transfers of 90,000 shares compared with 1,290,000 on Friday's sharp relapse.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .5 of a point at 63, best recovery since November 20. The index was down 1.1 points Friday. Of 989 issues registering, 539 rose and 252 fell.

Rails had the benefit of ICC-approved fare boosts for the New Haven and roads west of the Mississippi. New Haven preferred added 1¼ at 17¼ and Union Pacific two at 150. Cannon Mills touched a 1947 top and finished up 3¼ at 41¾. Follansbee Steel advanced 3¼ to 33½, du Pont 2¼ at 182¼, Publicker 1⅞ at 22, American Smelting 1¾ at 54½, Chrysler 1½ at 60¾ and Standard Oil (NJ) 1½ at 75.

In front were Bethlehem Steel, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Deere, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, North American, Standard Gas $4 preferred, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide, United States Gypsum, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Railway, Chesapeake and Ohio, Union Bag and Paper, American Woolen, International Paper, Radio Corporation and Schenley.

Ritter Company slipped five-eighths at 25⅝ despite an extra disbursement. Allied Chemical conceded 1½ at 188½ and Pacific Western Oil 1½ at 51. Easier were Goodyear, American Telephone, J. C. Penny (as directions halved the 1946 year-end extra), Owens-Illinois and Public Service of New Jersey.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Freezing weather in the Southwest and reentry of the Production and Marketing Administration into the flour market caused grains to close with gains of several cents on the Board of Trade today.

Budget Help

One good way to keep the budget from going all out of bounds is to take advantage of sales and bargains. Many frozen fruits, vegetables and fish, for instance, are on special sale from time to time, and such things as green peas, sliced peaches, golden sweet cut corn and fillets of red perch can be had to add variety to budget menus.

Market Revives; Technical Factors Inspire Buying Of Industrials, Rails

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—The stock market sat up and took nourishment today as technical factors inspired quick-turn buying of selected industrials and rails.

Short coverings and other bidding by professionals, based on the thought that the recent decline to average lows since last June entitled the list to at least a temporary revival, received the principal credit for the comeback. Skepticism regarding anti-inflation moves and foreign affairs still kept numerous customers on the sidelines. Tax selling again was a deterrent. Little response was made to another string of good dividends. A few oils did better but the majority of stocks in this group failed to exhibit much enthusiasm over climbing prices for petroleum products.

A fair amount of activity was maintained from the start. Quick subscription of a special 23,000-share offering of Remington Rand was helpful to sentiment and volume. Gains of fractions to a point or more—there was a handful of wider jumpers—predominated at the close. Transfers of 90,000 shares compared with 1,290,000 on Friday's sharp relapse.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .5 of a point at 63, best recovery since November 20. The index was down 1.1 points Friday. Of 989 issues registering, 539 rose and 252 fell.

Rails had the benefit of ICC-approved fare boosts for the New Haven and roads west of the Mississippi. New Haven preferred added 1¼ at 17¼ and Union Pacific two at 150. Cannon Mills touched a 1947 top and finished up 3¼ at 41¾. Follansbee Steel advanced 3¼ to 33⅛, du Pont 2¼ at 182¼, Publicker 1⅞ at 22, American Smelting 1⅜ at 54½, Chrysler 1½ at 60¾ and Standard Oil (NJ) 1½ at 75.

In front were Bethlehem Steel, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Deere, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, North American, Standard Gas $4 preferred, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Union Carbide, United States Gypsum, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Railway, Chesapeake and Ohio, Union Bag and Paper, American Woolen, International Paper, Radio Corporation and Schenley.

Ritter Company slipped five-eighths at 25⅝ despite an extra disbursement. Allied Chemical conceded 1½ at 188½ and Pacific Western Oil 1½ at 51. Easier were Goodyear, American Telephone, J. C. Penny (as directions halved the 1946 year-end extra), Owens-Illinois and Public Service of New Jersey.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—Freezing weather in the Southwest and reentry of the Production and Marketing Administration into the flour market caused grains to close with gains of several cents on the Board of Trade today.

For the most of the session cereals backed and filled over a fairly wide price range. At one time the December wheat contract fell below $3, but resting demand was evident at that point. Hyndman Students To Give Operetta

By LILLIAN H. CRABTREE

HYNDMAN, Pa.—The operetta, "When Christmas Comes", will be presented by the pupils of the third and fourth grades under the direction of the teachers, Mrs. James Brumbaugh and Mrs. Robert A. Miller, at the December meeting of the Hyndman Parent-Teacher Association this evening at 7:45 in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Gertrude Shaffer will have charge of the devotions and Rev. John Bucher, of the Reformed Church, will have charge of a program of Christmas carols and art using colored slides.

After the meeting members of the Future Homemakers of America Club will sell cookies.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. John Korns announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crabtree, Mrs. Clifton Beal, Mrs. Edward Harden and Mrs. W. A. Mason spent Sunday in Johnstown.

William Jamison is a patient in Aspinwall Hospital, near Pittsburgh.

Driver Forfeits Bond

Ernest Stayer, Bedford, Pa., forfeited $10 bond yesterday morning in Police Court when he failed to appear to answer a charge of careless driving. Officers John Daum and William McGraw apprehended Stayer in downtown Cumberland early Sunday morning.

Two Men Jailed

The usual weekend drunk cases were tried in Police Court yesterday morning with two of the men receiving jail sentences.

William "Buck" Brant and Harry Morrison, both of this city, were sentenced to three days in jail in default of $3 fines.

Suspended sentences were meeted out to Howard Tichenor, Clarksburg, W. Va., who said he was enroute to New York, and Mack Oster and Thomas Brant, this city.

Worker Is Injured

Charles Miller, 21, 411 Avirett Avenue, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for leg injuries suffered when he was struck by a bar while at work at the B. and O. Railroad here. X-rays were taken.

Christmas Wrapping

Trim gift-wrapped package with paper doilies. Take a 6-in. square doily. Accordion pleat it. Fold it at middle and glue the folded doily to a long, narrow candy such as a peppermint stick. The candy forms the body, the folded doily forms the wings of the dragon fly. Attach the whole thing to the package.

Budget Help

One good way to keep the budget from going all out of bounds is to take advantage of sales and bargains. Many frozen fruits, vegetables and fish, for instance, are on special sale from time to time, and such things as green peas, sliced peaches, golden sweet cut corn and fillets of red perch can be had to add variety to budget menus.

Business Is Urged To Become Active In Government

"Aggregate Counsel" Seen As Beneficial

Members of the Board of Directors and the Legislative Committee of the Chamber of Commerce agreed yesterday with Paul Conant, national affairs advisor for the Southeastern Division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, that business interests must express themselves on matters pertaining to government if they want consideration.

Conant, avowedly organizing business to arouse interest in policies of good government, termed business the "most backward element" in the United States as far as taking an active part in government is concerned.

Pointing out that some statemen-the thinking men-are being developed in Washington, Conant said that at no time will the judgment of sound businessmen be more welcome than from this point on.

People Must Be Active

Businessmen, who have an important stake in Washington, are just starting to become active, Conant asserted, and many men who have been lethargic are showing a willingness to assist in conveying the beliefs of business to Congress.

Saying that America has the machinery for the best government on earth, but only when the people participate in it, Conant said businessmen have an "opportunity and a responsibility" to "be in there fighting" for legislation that will help them.

He predicted that the "aggregate counsel" of businessmen to their representatives in Washington will result in better government, and pointed out that by organizing, business is not fighting labor or any organized minority but is "just looking out for business."

Should Contact Congressmen

Conant urged businessmen to inform Congressmen of their opinion regarding bills in Congress and to write their Congressmen on their business stationery. Asking a lawmaker to vote for or against a bill is not enough, Conant said, adding that he should be given a reason for the request.

The U. S. Chamber provides daily information on measures pending in Congress to legislative affairs committees of Chambers of Commerce, provides a bill digest, a "Legislative Outlook" which is published twice monthly, and a "special number" on major legislation of interest to all business, Conant said.

He termed the "special number" a "signal for a meeting" of the legislative affairs committee, and outlined the committee's function as discussing and voting on the bill, then reporting to the board of directors which in turn forwards to Congress its recommendation on the measure.

Plan Underway To Resume Winter Sports In Garrett

Hope To Reopen Ski Trail At New Germany

The Department of State Forests and Parks is making plans to resume a winter sports program at New Germany recreation area, according to William A. Parr, district forester.

Parr said Edwin E. Ballard, assistant director of the department was in Garrett county last week, checking facilities, with the view of resuming the skiing program that had just got underway about the beginning of World War II.

Ballard said he has talked with officers of the Washington Ski Club and the Baltimore Ski Club concerning the New Germany area, and that if conditions are favorable, hundreds of visitors from the two cities will spend weekends at the skiing area.

The Washington Club includes persons connected with embassies of Norway, Sweden and other countries noted for winter sports, and there is much interest in the possibility of ski trails so near the capital city.

Ballard also said he hopes the Cumberland Ski Club, which disbanded in the war will reorganize, and suggests that persons interested, contact Parr at the district forester's office in the Court House.

The New Germany area is located in the Savage River State Forest of 51,517 acres and is about five miles south of Grantsville on Route 40. Ballard said there will be a ski lodge in operation this year by the state and that 26 persons can be accommodated with sleeping and cooking provisions.

Other facilities at the New Germany area include open slopes with ski tow, down-hill and cross-country ski trails—one along Whiskey Hollow for experts and the other five miles long amid a setting of evergreen trees.

Colorful Parade Marks Shriners' Ceremonial Here

Memorial Service Opens Program

The colorful Arabic costumes of the uniformed bodies of Ali Ghan Temple of the Shrine were displayed to Cumberlanders in a parade last night as the Shriners held their fall ceremonial in this city.

Some 650 Shriners marched in the parade over downtown streets and attended the ceremonial in the Maryland Theater where 50 candidates, the great majority of them from Allegany County, were initiated.

With Ralph L. Rizer, clad in a white and gold uniform as commander of the units, the parade, headed by the flag unit, moved up Baltimore Street after assembling on Washington Street in the vicinity of the Court House.

The Divan, headed by Potentate Leslie K. Spielman, Hagerstown, and augmented by Potentate Harry Glass and his Divan from Jaffa Temple, Altoona, Pa., was next in line.

Other brightly clad uniformed bodies followed, including the band, the chanters, the drum and bugle corps and the patrol.

Hundreds of Shriners wearing red fezzes and otherwise conventional attire likewise paraded, along with the candidates, some of whom led a stubborn goat, perhaps indicative of what was to come.

The band played a brief concert at the entrance to the theater while the Shriners assembled for the ceremonial, opened with the annual memorial service for 19 members who died in the past year. The memorial was conducted by Martin V. B. Bostetter, Hagerstown, a past potentate.

Movies of the Joe Louis-Joe Walcott heavyweight title fight concluded the ceremonial.

Opening event of the day was a business meeting at Ali Ghan City Club at 11 a. m., followed in the afternoon by processing of the candidates, also at the city club.

Dinner was served from 5 to 7 p. m. at the Masonic Temple, followed by the parade which moved off at 7 o'clock.

Mark McCauley, Convicted Slayer Transferred To Prison Death Cell

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Dec. 8 (AP) — Prison authorities transferred Mark McCauley to the death house in the state penitentiary today and the greying, 36-year-old convicted slayer of a State Police officer, apparently benumbed by his impending fate, gave no indication he was aware of the difference.

McCauley is scheduled to be hanged Wednesday night for the fatal shooting of State Police Sgt. Joseph P. Horne, unless Governor Meadows intervenes and commutes the sentence.

Governor Meadows continued his study of the case at Charleston, and said he would announce formally tomorrow what action he would take on informal petitions that he commute McCauley's sentence. The record includes the reports of two psychiatrists who recently examined the condemned man.

McCauley was convicted in Mineral County of the slaying of Horne, and the conviction later was upheld by the State Supreme Court which ruled that he had received a fair, although "not perfect," trial.

Horne and Tucker Sheriff O. Guy Hovatter's son wounded when they attempted to arrest McCauley on a truck theft charge. McCauley was captured a short time later as the result of a widespread manhunt.

Good Neighbor Day Marchers Pass In Review Under Yuletide Lights

Parade Witnessed By Large Crowd

Baltimore Street was ablaze with color last night as a score of brightly uniformed marching units, including bands, drum corps, fire companies, color guards and veterans organizations, passed in review beneath the multi-colored Yuletide decorations, in the Good Neighbor Day parade, sponsored by J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets.

Despite the December cold, thousands of persons lined the route of march to see the spectacle, which followed closely behind the Shriners' shorter, but equally colorful parade.

Two hundred dollars in prize money was divided between the Hyndman, Pa., High School Band; The Mt. Savage Jr. O.U.A.M. Band, and Farrady Post, No. 24, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps. Judges awarded $84 to Hyndman, $60 to Mt. Savage and $56 to Farrady Post, based upon the number of musicians and marchers in line and the distance traveled.

Hyndman Band Leads

The parade was marshalled by Capt. Thomas F. Conlon, who rode in an Army Jeep behind a City Police escort. The first unit in line was the colorful and well-trained Hyndman High School band, which is establishing an excellent reputation for cooperation in Cumberland parades.

Washington Chapter Disabled American War Veterans color guard and members followed. The next musical unit was Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, Frostburg.

Mt. Savage Jr. O.U.A.M. followed, with Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars color guard and huge drum corps next. The Vets' Corps, an all World War II unit included six majorettes and 12 flag wavers, adding a colorful touch to the service uniforms, worn by the musicians.

Allegany High School band, color guard and majorettes were followed by Romney, W. Va., Volunteer Fire Company with its new pumper, and Wiley Ford, W. Va., fire engine.

Fort Hill High School band, in their bright scarlet uniforms drew steady applause from the spectators.

Blue And Gray Appears

The Blue and Gray Corps, better known as Squadron No. 13, Sons of the Legion, sponsored by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, was in line, but with its ranks badly depleted. This unit, the formal mascots of the 29th. (Blue and Gray) Division, is in the process of reorganization and had recessed rehearsals until April, when the invitation for this parade, arrived. Desiring to show its "Good Neighbor" spirit, the Legion and the Squadron decided to enter the parade with as many of the 100 members as could be mustered. About 20 marched, and made a splendid appearance.

The last units in line were the color guard and post members of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, followed by their ladies auxiliary officers and members in autos.

A letter of appreciation for the contribution of $57 from Cumberlanders, for the Christmas party for the Club for the Blind at the United States Marine Hospital, Carville, La., for lepers, has been received here from Rev. Clifton E. Rash, chaplain.

Chaplain Rash wrote that the party is to be held December 23 at which time "gifts provided by friends and interested persons, and the money sent from Cumberland, will be presented to the blind and crippled men and women."

He further wrote, "that since there are some articles so desired by the patients throughout the year, such as stamps, the committee decided to give the Cumberland contribution in the form of a new $1 bill with a Christmas greeting to each of the group, so each may purchase whatever he or she desires.

The party is sponsored by a committee of women of the Personnell. They are the wives of the doctors and other officers and workers. Mrs. Rash is one of the group.

Contributions can still be sent either direct to the chaplain or to Mrs. E. W. Yates, this city, who will forward them to the chaplain.

$75,000 Damage Suit Underway In Circuit Court

An array of legal and medical talent is featuring a $75,000 damage suit in Circuit Court here with David Harry Hamby, Hagerstown plaintiff and the Hagerstown Lumber Company, defendant.

Testimony before a jury will be resumed at 9:15 a. m. today, with the case expected by Court attaches to reach the jury late this afternoon. The case opened yesterday morning with William C. Walsh and Morgan C. Harris, this city and Leo H. Miller, Hagerstown representing the lumber firm, and Paul M. Fletcher, this city, and John Wagaman and Charles Wagaman, both of Hagerstown, representing the plaintiff.

Struck By Heavy Chain

Counsel for Hamby stated that their client was struck on the head by a 14-foot length of heavy chain on the company's property, June 12, 1945. As a result, the plaintiff claims Hamby has suffered a brain and back injury which leaves him in constant pain and makes it necessary for him to wear a brace on his back.

Defense counsel claim Hamby hurt his back a year after the mishap, when he sneezed while bending over, and that this was the real cause of his permanent injury.

Hamby is a former guard at the Maryland Penal Farm, Roxbury, Md., and on occasions went to the lumber yard to get lumber and other material needed at the institution.

He testified that he has drawn temporary total disability payments from the State Accident Fund, which is a party in the suit with him, and also said he is now drawing permanent total compensation which will cease when he has received $3,750. Hamby is the father of seven children, and was accompanied to Court here by his wife.

Attorneys explained that under Maryland law, if he gets a judgment against the lumber company, the first money he received as a result of the injuries will go to the State Accident Fund to repay the compensation paid him. The balance of any award which the jury might make, will be his, after legal costs are paid.

Hamby appeared in Court, and sat through the whole day of the hearing, in what appeared to be a cramped, side-ways position, with his weight on the left side of his body.

Truck Driver Testifies

First witness on the stand was a truck driver formerly employed by the lumber company, who told how Hamby and a yard boss for the firm walked between a loaded lumber truck and a building, just before he threw the chain over the loaded truck.

The truck driver said he yelled, "Watch out", and peered beneath the truck before he threw the chain. He said the two men were just entering a doorway, but at this point they turned and started back, the chain striking Hamby. He was bleeding about the head, the driver declared, after being struck.

Officials of the company testified as to the circumstances surrounding the mishap, and to the earnings and payments made to Hamby.

Medical testimony was quite technical and there appeared to be some difference of opinion ventured by physicians, as to the possible cause of Hamby's permanent injury.

Among witnesses summoned for the case were: Kenneth A. E. Smith, John R. Nelson, Dr. R. B. Norment, Dr. Peregrieve Wroth, Richard K. Coggins, Allen T. Veatch, H. R. Raymond, John A. Boschert, John R. Nelson, Harry C. Hodges, Dr. Dalton M. Weltz, Hagerstown; Dr. Richard Coblentz, Baltimore; Dr. H. V. Deming, Dr. A. G. Murray, Dr. W. A. Gracie, and Dr. B. Skitarelic, this city.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson are presiding.

Richmond Man Interviewed For Smoke Position

Hobson To Notify Council Of Decision

J. R. A. Hobson, Jr., a consulting engineer of Richmond, Va., informed Mayor Thomas S. Post after an interview here yesterday regarding the position of smoke abatement engineer that he will inform the Mayor and Council by letter within a day or two whether he will apply for the post.

Mayor Post, Water Commissioner William J. Edwards and City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett conferred with Hobson at City Hall yesterday afternoon, after which Edwards conducted the Richmond engineer on a tour of the city's water facilities at Lake Koon Dam.

The Mayor said city officials were impressed with Hobson's qualifications.

A plan is being considered to employ one man to handle both the smoke abatement work and the post of water superintendent.

Hobson holds degrees from Virginia Military Institute and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as well as a graduate degree in electrical engineering from VMI. He was qualified as a certified professional engineer by the Virginia State Board in 1935.

During his engineering career of 24 years, he served as director of public utilities in Richmond for seven years and as director of the State of Arizona Power Authority in Phoenix, which included a project to deliver Boulder Dam power to central Arizona markets.

Although two other qualified engineers have expressed interest in the smoke abatement position, Mayor Post said no further interviews have been arranged pending word from the Richmond engineer.

Colorful Parade Marks Shriners' Ceremonial Here

Memorial Service Opens Program

The colorful Arabic costumes of the uniformed bodies of Ali Ghan Temple of the Shrine were displayed to Cumberlanders in a parade last night as the Shriners held their fall ceremonial in this city.

Some 650 Shriners marched in the parade over downtown streets and attended the ceremonial in the Maryland Theater where 50 candidates, the great majority of them from Allegany County, were initiated.

With Ralph L. Rizer, clad in a white and gold uniform as commander of the units, the parade, headed by the flag unit, moved up Baltimore Street after assembling on Washington Street in the vicinity of the Court House.

The Divan, headed by Potentate Leslie K. Spielman, Hagerstown, and augmented by Potentate Harry Glass and his Divan from Jaffa Temple, Altoona, Pa., was next in line.

Other brightly clad uniformed bodies followed, including the band, the chanters, the drum and bugle corps and the patrol.

Hundreds of Shriners wearing red fezzes and otherwise conventional attire likewise paraded, along with the candidates, some of whom led a stubborn goat, perhaps indicative of what was to come.

The band played a brief concert at the entrance to the theater while the Shriners assembled for the ceremonial, opened with the annual memorial service for 19 members who died in the past year. The memorial was conducted by Martin V. B. Bostetter, Hagerstown, a past potentate.

Movies of the Joe Louis-Joe Walcott heavyweight title fight concluded the ceremonial.

Opening event of the day was a business meeting at Ali Ghan City Club at 11 a. m., followed in the afternoon by processing of the candidates, also at the city club.

Dinner was served from 5 to 7 p. m. at the Masonic Temple, followed by the parade which moved off at 7 o'clock.

Plan Underway To Resume Winter Sports In Garrett

Hope To Reopen Ski Trail At New Germany

The Department of State Forests and Parks is making plans to resume a winter sports program at New Germany recreation area, according to William A. Parr, district forester.

Parr said Edwin E. Ballard, assistant director of the department was in Garrett county last week, checking facilities, with the view of resuming the skiing program that had just got underway about the beginning of World War II.

Ballard said he has talked with officers of the Washington Ski Club and the Baltimore Ski Club concerning the New Germany area, and that if conditions are favorable, hundreds of visitors from the two cities will spend weekends at the skiing area.

The Washington Club includes persons connected with embassies of Norway, Sweden and other countries noted for winter sports, and there is much interest in the possibility of ski trails so near the capital city.

Ballard also said he hopes the Cumberland Ski Club, which disbanded in the war will reorganize, and suggests that persons interested, contact Parr at the district forester's office in the Court House.

The New Germany area is located in the Savage River State Forest of 51,517 acres and is about five miles south of Grantsville on Route 40. Ballard said there will be a ski lodge in operation this year by the state and that 26 persons can be accommodated with sleeping and cooking provisions.

Other facilities at the New Germany area include open slopes with ski tow, down-hill and cross-country ski trails—one along Whiskey Hollow for experts and the other five miles long amid a setting of evergreen trees.

Mark McCauley, Convicted Slayer Transferred To Prison Death Cell

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Dec. 8 (AP) — Prison authorities transferred Mark McCauley to the death house in the state penitentiary today and the greying, 36-year-old convicted slayer of a State Police officer, apparently benumbed by his impending fate, gave no indication he was aware of the difference.

McCauley is scheduled to be hanged Wednesday night for the fatal shooting of State Police Sgt. Joseph P. Horne, unless Governor Meadows intervenes and commutes the sentence.

Governor Meadows continued his study of the case at Charleston, and said he would announce formally tomorrow what action he would take on informal petitions that he commute McCauley's sentence. The record includes the reports of two psychiatrists who recently examined the condemned man.

McCauley was convicted in Mineral County of the slaying of Horne, and the conviction later was upheld by the State Supreme Court which ruled that he had received a fair, although "not perfect," trial.

Horne and Tucker Sheriff O. Guy Hovatter's son wounded when they attempted to arrest McCauley on a truck theft charge. McCauley was captured a short time later as the result of a widespread manhunt.

Good Neighbor Day Marchers Pass In Review Under Yuletide Lights

Parade Witnessed By Large Crowd

Baltimore Street was ablaze with color last night as a score of brightly uniformed marching units, including bands, drum corps, fire companies, color guards and veterans organizations, passed in review beneath the multi-colored Yuletide decorations, in the Good Neighbor Day parade, sponsored by J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets.

Despite the December cold, thousands of persons lined the route of march to see the spectacle, which followed closely behind the Shriners' shorter, but equally colorful parade.

Two hundred dollars in prize money was divided between the Hyndman, Pa., High School Band; The Mt. Savage Jr. O.U.A.M. Band, and Farrady Post, No. 24, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps. Judges awarded $84 to Hyndman, $60 to Mt. Savage and $56 to Farrady Post, based upon the number of musicians and marchers in line and the distance traveled.

Hyndman Band Leads

The parade was marshalled by Capt. Thomas F. Conlon, who rode in an Army Jeep behind a City Police escort. The first unit in line was the colorful and well-trained Hyndman High School band, which is establishing an excellent reputation for cooperation in Cumberland parades.

Washington Chapter Disabled American War Veterans color guard and members followed. The next musical unit was Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, Frostburg.

Mt. Savage Jr. O.U.A.M. followed, with Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars color guard and huge drum corps next. The Vets' Corps, an all World War II unit included six majorettes and 12 flag wavers, adding a colorful touch to the service uniforms, worn by the musicians.

Allegany High School band, color guard and majorettes were followed by Romney, W. Va., Volunteer Fire Company with its new pumper, and Wiley Ford, W. Va., fire engine.

Fort Hill High School band, in their bright scarlet uniforms drew steady applause from the spectators.

Blue And Gray Appears

The Blue and Gray Corps, better known as Squadron No. 13, Sons of the Legion, sponsored by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, was in line, but with its ranks badly depleted. This unit, the formal mascots of the 29th. (Blue and Gray) Division, is in the process of reorganization and had recessed rehearsals until April, when the invitation for this parade, arrived. Desiring to show its "Good Neighbor" spirit, the Legion and the Squadron decided to enter the parade with as many of the 100 members as could be mustered. About 20 marched, and made a splendid appearance.

The last units in line were the color guard and post members of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, followed by their ladies auxiliary officers and members in autos.

After the parade, open house was held at the Amvets for all the marchers, and prize money was presented the winning units by Capt. Conlon and John Kelley, Jr., parade chairman.

The party is sponsored by a committee of women of the Personnell. They are the wives of the doctors and other officers and workers. Mrs. Rash is one of the group.

$75,000 Damage Suit Underway In Circuit Court

An array of legal and medical talent is featuring a $75,000 damage suit in Circuit Court here with David Harry Hamby, Hagerstown plaintiff and the Hagerstown Lumber Company, defendant.

Testimony before a jury will be resumed at 9:15 a. m. today, with the case expected by Court attaches to reach the jury late this afternoon. The case opened yesterday morning with William C. Walsh and Morgan C. Harris, this city and Leo H. Miller, Hagerstown representing the lumber firm, and Paul M. Fletcher, this city, and John Wagaman and Charles Wagaman, both of Hagerstown, representing the plaintiff.

Struck By Heavy Chain

Counsel for Hamby stated that their client was struck on the head by a 14-foot length of heavy chain on the company's property, June 12, 1945. As a result, the plaintiff claims Hamby has suffered a brain and back injury which leaves him in constant pain and makes it necessary for him to wear a brace on his back.

Defense counsel claim Hamby hurt his back a year after the mishap, when he sneezed while bending over, and that this was the real cause of his permanent injury.

Hamby is a former guard at the Maryland Penal Farm, Roxbury, Md., and on occasions went to the lumber yard to get lumber and other material needed at the institution.

He testified that he has drawn temporary total disability payments from the State Accident Fund, which is a party in the suit with him, and also said he is now drawing permanent total compensation which will cease when he has received $3,750. Hamby is the father of seven children, and was accompanied to Court here by his wife.

Attorneys explained that under Maryland law, if he gets a judgment against the lumber company, the first money he received as a result of the injuries will go to the State Accident Fund to repay the compensation paid him. The balance of any award which the jury might make, will be his, after legal costs are paid.

Hamby appeared in Court, and sat through the whole day of the hearing, in what appeared to be a cramped, side-ways position, with his weight on the left side of his body.

Truck Driver Testifies

First witness on the stand was a truck driver formerly employed by the lumber company, who told how Hamby and a yard boss for the firm walked between a loaded lumber truck and a building, just before he threw the chain over the loaded truck.

The truck driver said he yelled, "Watch out", and peered beneath the truck before he threw the chain. He said the two men were just entering a doorway, but at this point they turned and started back, the chain striking Hamby. He was bleeding about the head, the driver declared, after being struck.

Officials of the company testified as to the circumstances surrounding the mishap, and to the earnings and payments made to Hamby.

Medical testimony was quite technical and there appeared to be some difference of opinion ventured by physicians, as to the possible cause of Hamby's permanent injury.

Among witnesses summoned for the case were: Kenneth A. E. Smith, John R. Nelson, Dr. R. B. Norment, Dr. Peregrieve Wroth, Richard K. Coggins, Allen T. Veatch, H. R. Raymond, John A. Boschert, John R. Nelson, Harry C. Hodges, Dr. Dalton M. Weltz, Hagerstown; Dr. Richard Coblentz, Baltimore; Dr. H. V. Deming, Dr. A. G. Murray, Dr. W. A. Gracie, and Dr. B. Skitarelic, this city.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson are presiding.

Hobson To Notify Council Of Decision

J. R. A. Hobson, Jr., a consulting engineer of Richmond, Va., informed Mayor Thomas S. Post after an interview here yesterday regarding the position of smoke abatement engineer that he will inform the Mayor and Council by letter within a day or two whether he will apply for the post.

The Mayor said city officials were impressed with Hobson's qualifications.

Hobson holds degrees from Virginia Military Institute and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as well as a graduate degree in electrical engineering from VMI. He was qualified as a certified professional engineer by the Virginia State Board in 1935.

During his engineering career of 24 years, he served as director of public utilities in Richmond for seven years and as director of the State of Arizona Power Authority in Phoenix, which included a project to deliver Boulder Dam power to central Arizona markets.

Although two other qualified engineers have expressed interest in the smoke abatement position, Mayor Post said no further interviews have been arranged pending word from the Richmond engineer.
